under way by saying that "several sensible conversations" had been held by strike leaders and representatives of a number of roads. One of these meetings was held several days ago "informally" in Baltimore.

The general impression here was that the strike leaders had agreed to discuss the terms of the strike with the railroad executives on a national basis only.

Daniel Wilson, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, who has followed a conciliatory policy throughout the strike, was reported to be eating as an indication for a group of executives willing to talk and strike leaders ready to listen.

By CHARLES R. LYNCH, United Press Staff Correspondent, CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—The policy committee of the striking shopmen was called to meet here Monday to "ratify certain agreements tentatively made with certain railroad," a union leader declared.

here today. Union officials here refused to be quoted.

The strikers are making their supreme effort to gain a peace agreement with approximately 50 eastern and western railroads.

John Scott, secretary of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the policy committee was meeting here for only one purpose and that was to discuss the terms of the proposed settlement.

"It is an expensive proposition bringing 30 men to Chicago from all parts of the country," he said. "We couldn't do it unless there was something unusually important at stake. This report that the policy committee was called to consider greeted prison attaches and newspapermen was gone. In its place had come a reticence and moodiness strangely contrasted.

A warrant charging the girl with murder in the first degree was issued immediately following the receipt in Seattle of Lieutenant Kent's account of her confession and her own postscript. The new warrant is being brought here, together with extradition papers, by Mrs. Mabel Herbert, wife of a Seattle police officer. Mrs. Herbert will arrive tomorrow evening, and with Lieutenant Kent and the girl will return north, probably the next day.

GIRL DESCRIBES CRIME IN DETAIL.

The confession of the girl describes in detail her killing of Hochbrunn. It was made, Lieutenant Kent says, as the result of a sudden burst of confidence on the part of the "girl with the innocent blue eyes" while she was talking with him.

"Hochbrunn attempted to force unmentionable advances upon me, and, in the scuffle, I shot him with a revolver I had taken along as a protection," she declared to Detective Lieutenant William B. Kent, who came here to take her back to Seattle. The confession was made while the two were strolling along the borders of Lake Merritt.

SLAYER RETURNS TO ROB BODY.

For a month after she had killed Hochbrunn, and while his undiscovered body lay sprawled across a trunk in the bedroom of his home, the 26-year-old girl remained in Seattle, returning time and again to the house to take money out of the dead man's pocket, or to get her personal belongings which she had left there.

It was not until several weeks after the girl had finally left Seattle, and, under an assumed name, had taken employment in San Francisco, that the body of Hochbrunn was discovered, and a police search started for his slayer.

It was the large amounts of money that Miss Skarin had freely dispensed following the death of Hochbrunn, that drew the suspicion of the police toward her, and started the attempt to locate her after she had fled from Seattle.

And it was the young girl's "innocent blue eyes" with what is described as an "unforgettable" loom in them, that led to her recognition in Oakland by a TRIBUNE employee, and her subsequent arrest by the Oakland police.

"When I returned to Seattle from Kalamazoo," the girl told Detective Lieutenant Kent, "I went to Hochbrunn's apartment at 2520 Fifth avenue, in the hope of obtaining at least a part of the $3000 or $4000 that my mother had loaned him while she was serving as his housekeeper. He had sent me transportation to Seattle, and I believed he wanted me to act as his housekeeper. I was astounded on arriving to discover that he expected me to pose as his wife."

"Early the following morning—about 5 o'clock—Hochbrunn rushed into the room where I had made my makeshift bed, and made unspeakable proposals to me. I rushed from the house and fled to the home of my cousin, Mrs. Ann Clark, at 902 Twentieth avenue, Seattle.

PLANNED TO RECOVER PERSONAL EFFECTS.

"I had left all by personal effects and belongings at Hochbrunn's place in my haste to get away from him, and after I reached my aunt's I began planning to go back there to recover them."

"I have a sixth sense, or something of that kind, that warns me of danger, and, soon after reaching my cousin's house, I began to have the feeling that I should have a revolver about me. I thought at the time that this was because my cousin's husband, who was a mail carrier, was away much of the time at night, but I guess now it had something to do with what happened later. I obtained a Seattle police permit to carry a revolver, and then I bought one at a pawnshop on Vester way, giving the name of my cousin and the address of my aunt, Mrs. W. C. Datesman, 6525 Twenty-sixth avenue, Northwest."

"I went back to Hochbrunn's apartment for my things about the 12th or 13th of October of last year, and, when I went, I carried the revolver with me, wrapped up in a piece of newspaper and concealed in my handbag."

"The old man—he was past 70—was there again and almost immediately he made vulgar advances toward me. Then he grabbed me. 'Keep away from me or I'll kill you,' I told him, 'I have a pistol!'

GIRL FIRED FATAL SHOT AND FLED.

"He called me an awful name and grabbed me again. I drew the pistol from my handbag, but, in the scuffle it was knocked from my hand to the floor. Hochbrunn picked it up and I grabbed his hand with the gun in it."

"We continued struggling, I holding fast to his hand and trying to twist it around so that the revolver would point at his back. Then I pulled the trigger with my thumb and the gun went off and the bullet hit him in the back of the head. I left him where he fell and rushed out of the house."

"The next day I went back to Hochbrunn's apartment. My belongings were still there, and I

Striker Is Jailed Until Strike Ends

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 7.—Judge Francis E. Baker, sitting in the Federal Court here today, sentenced Mark Higgins, striking boilermaker at the Monon railroad shops at Lafayette, Ind., to the Marion county jail until the "end of the strike."

Higgins was found guilty of attempting to intimidate P. Paul Gaudin, Purdue University student, now employed in the Monon shops, in violation of a federal injunction granted to the Monon some time ago.

had never received any of the $3000 or $4000 that my mother had loaned him. I found his body lying sprawled out across a trunk, just as it had fallen after the shot was fired."

"I took a pair of shears and slit his trousers pocket, and took out a key to a trunk in which, I believed, he kept his money. I opened the trunk and found a poke containing $700 in gold. I took it with me and left the house."

"On that same day Miss Skarin wired $175 to Kalamazoo and Chicago in payment of various debts, and on the following day she sent $250 to her fiancé, Raymond Herrin, a telegraph operator at Kalamazoo, whom she was to marry in the spring of this year. She purchased the telegraph orders with gold coin."

TALKS TO OPERATOR AND STIRS SUSPICION.

And then she made one of those mistakes which the cleverest fugitives usually make sometime and give themselves away. She went out of her way to tell the telegraph clerk that her rich uncle had recently died, and hoped to know how she came to have so much money. The telegraph clerk, who was used to seeing money, had not been impressed by the amounts, but he was impressed by the fact that the young woman seemed to think an explanation was necessary. He told the police, and the search was started for Clara Skarin, which ended with her identification by a TRIBUNE employee, and her confession to Detective Lieutenant Kent.

Miss Skarin first made her confession to Kent while he was interviewing her alone at the Oakland City prison early yesterday morning. Kent immediately went to a typewriter and wrote out her confession. Then they went out to lunch together, and afterward went for a stroll around Lake Merritt. While walking by the lake, Kent showed Miss Skarin his typed report to the Seattle police. She made one or two slight corrections, and then, at the bottom, wrote her "O. K."

'Misguided Labor Chiefs' Attacked by Daugherty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Attorney General Daugherty last night, in a vigorous formal statement, warned "misguided labor leaders" to come into court and clear away all suspicion about their activities. Otherwise, he said, they must accept responsibility for instigating and carrying on the unquestioned conspiracy to paralyze transportation in this country. The statement in full follows:

The government will consider in due time what proceedings shall be taken against the few misguided labor leaders who have made incendiary speeches with the purpose of defeating the administration of justice. The rank and file of labor organizations are loyal and law-abiding citizens, and I am satisfied that they will be content to submit to the issues in the Chicago injunction suit, to the order of process of law and to abide by the decisions of the courts as to what is the law of the land.

A few misguided labor leaders—some of them avowed Bolsheviks—who have shown a contempt for the courts and the processes of law, need not complain that they are denied the full privileges of free speech.

It is my intention, if it shall prove necessary, to proceed with the equity suit to give them the fullest opportunity of free speech and under circumstances that will give the greatest value to their utterances. For I propose that the court hear this case, that the leading defendants shall have the fullest opportunity to take the stand and testify under oath as to whether or not they are responsible for instigating and carrying on the unquestioned conspiracy to paralyze transportation in this country.

If they are reluctant to tell their side of the story, I shall be disposed—although the government's evidence will make it unnecessary to call the leading defendants to the witness stand, and they will then have, as I said, the fullest opportunity of free speech and under the most satisfactory conditions.

In thus proposing to put before the country, not only the government's case, but any possible defense, I am somewhat hampered by the fact that the government's process servers have had great difficulty in locating the leading officials of the shop crafts' organizations.

No lawyer has yet formally appeared for them in the Chicago suit, and this is disappointing as I desired to serve notice upon him to bring into court next Monday all the books, letters, telegrams and other documentary data of his client, so that the public could judge whether or not they continuously attempted to paralyze interstate commerce and thus starve the community in order to enforce, by coercion, their demands.

I am instructing the United States attorney at Chicago to serve notice on the counsel for the defendants when such counsel is selected, to produce those of his clients who are the leading officials of the shop crafts' organizations; together with all their books, correspondence, financial accounts, checkbooks and other documentary data.

"When the extremists on both sides are displeased with the government's action, it is pretty fair indication that the government is on the right track."

This statement was made by Attorney General H. M. Daugherty with regard to the widespread criticism that has been expressed by labor leaders and railway executives over the Chicago injunction.

the Daugherty injunction is not true."

Shopcraft leaders, under the direction of Bert M. Jewell, president, offered a compromise agreement to those roads which in recent negotiations proved the most amenable. Acceptance of the compromise by these roads would force other roads into line, a high railroad official declared today.

"Every railroad in the country needs all the revenue it can possibly get by the movement of grain and coal," this official said. "Jewell, if the reports of his activities are true, has picked unerring lines which are in direct competition with other lines. A settlement would place these carriers in a position to grab off the cream of the freight business."

The more powerful lines involved in the settlement were said to be the New York Central, the B. & O., the Northwestern, the Burlington, the Northern Pacific and the Southern Railway.

The Pennsylvania railroad was reported to be leading the group opposed to any settlement.

The Northwestern has advertised for its shopmen to return to work, declaring that "every possible effort to settle the strike through the national officers has failed."

NO CONFERENCES IN PROGRESS, LEADER SAYS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (By the Associated Press).—There are no conferences now in progress between leaders of the railroad strikers and railroad presidents, and none have been held since the formal gatherings in New York last month, it was asserted today by J. P. Noonan, chief of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which is one of the seven railroad unions on national strike. The meeting of the strikers' policy committee, called for next week at Chicago, is to consider the general strike policy and also to consider what shall be done in view of the injunction application of the attorney-general, Noonan said.

HOPE OF RESCUE FADES AS RESULT OF MINE CAVE-IN

Many Days Ahead Confront
Workers Before Men

who were full of hope when the "shots" were thought to have been fired discarded the signal idea. Mine authorities have installed a geophone at the 4800-foot level in the Kennedy mine, and with this, they say, they can hear the sound of the buried men so much as tap a shovel against the rock wall of the shaft.

CONDITIONS BETTER ON UPPER LEVEL

Conditions were improved slightly during the night in the 3600-foot level, where the main rescue crew is working.

The drift is full of soft mud and rock, which is difficult to handle, and difficult to dispose of, as the closest into the tunnel enters it at the right angles. The soft earth must be hoisted up the crosscut, and this takes longer than removing it through a vertical opening.

The night crews made 25 feet, a total of 76 since the drift was entered. There are still 277 feet to be cleared away before the last obstacle, a 75-foot raise through soft rock, is reached.

OLD TIMBERS STILL IN GOOD CONDITION

Timbering is no longer necessary, as the old timbers are standing in good condition. A swelling of the floor of the tunnel, which caused considerable difficulty yesterday, is less serious in the portion of the drift the men have now reached.

The last men to come up this morning reported they "could see over the muck ahead into the drift for a distance of 25 feet."

Workers in the 3000-foot level, after a day full of difficulties, yesterday made 20 feet in six hours early this morning. They have 145 feet yet to go, and after that begins the task of blasting a tunnel through 141 feet of rock.

Yesterday the mine issued its monthly pay checks four days ahead of time. Checks were given to the families of the buried miners.

George T. Sillmer, of the National Red Cross, arrived here today to offer aid.

Yesterday afternoon Father Tavernier, of Sacramento, and Father Georgening, of San Francisco, were in Jackson and visited each of the families of the men.

Edmund Morris Hobart, safety engineer, sent by the Guggenheims, arrived yesterday.

Will Rogers, stage and film star, wired $500 to be divided among the survivors or their families.

A donation of $100 for relief work was received yesterday from Simon J. Lubin of Sacramento.

Boy Eager to Face Gas To Save Father, Brother

ARGONAUT MINE, JACKSON, Sept. 7.—(By International News Service.)—It came today, exploding like a bombshell, and shook the very emotional foundations of this stricken community—the most dramatic incident of the mine disaster.

Nineteen-year-old Elmer O'Berg, who up until four days ago had never been in a mine before, can't understand today why they wouldn't let him sign away his life.

If he wanted to take a chance and descend thousands of feet down into the poisonous Muldoon shaft of the fire-ridden Argonaut mine—a shaft that even the rats have deserted—he can't see why it was anyone else's business.

"I'll sign any kind of a paper," he solemnly pleaded with mine officials, "so that you won't be responsible if I don't come up."

But mine officials shook their heads.

And Elmer can't understand.

FATHER, BROTHER,
BOTH ENTOMBED.

All he can visualize today is his father, Charles, a veteran of the mother lode, and his brother, Arthur, both entombed somewhere a mile below, perhaps contorted in agony, perhaps dead, with the forty-five others who were trapped in the gold-walled lower levels of this mine eleven days ago.

And he can see Arthur's wife and his daughter, waiting in their little cottage on a side street here, for Arthur to come home.

Elmer was working in Goldfield, Nev., when first word reached him that his father and brother were among the forty-seven entombed miners. The boy was fairly sick when he arrived here.

Despite this it was only two hours after his arrival that he signed on as a mucker in the rescue crew which is attempting to tunnel into the Argonaut tomb from the adjoining Kennedy mine.

QUICK DESCENT
IN GAS PROPOSED.

It is slow work, this tunneling. Elmer was still sick when last night the men on his shift were discussing the possibility of descending into the poisonous Muldoon shaft and reaching the entombed.

"We can make it in four hours," one workman stated.

"I'll take days here."

Elmer was all alert. When he came up 3600 feet to the surface at 7 o'clock this morning, there was a queer set look around his mouth.

It wasn't only Elmer who offered to sign away a life. The thirty-three other men on this shift had discussed it throughout the night.

These men don't admire the gas-masked crew from the United States bureau of mines. It is the old, old conflict between the white collar man and his opposite. The former are called "canary bird" rescuers, and all Elmer's comrades wanted was the loan of their gas masks.

AUTOISTS RACE LIQUOR SUPPLY TO AID RESCUE

Stimulant for Mine Workers
Being Rushed to Jackson Under Guard.

Speeding like a streak over highways and rugged mountain roads alike, Captain Al Waddell and Harry McKnight, officials of the Durant Motor Company, today took thirty gallons of liquor to the men at the Argonaut mine who are working night and day under tremendous pressure in an effort to save the lives of the entombed miners.

Accompanying the Durant Six on its flight of mercy is another machine containing Deputy Sheriff Joseph Soares and Jack Collier. Their services were supplied by Sheriff Frank Barrie to protect the liquor-laden machine from attack by liquor thieves or bandits, and the flight of the car from interference by traffic officers.

Captain Waddell and McKnight started out from the Alameda county jail exactly at 9:15 o'clock this morning with the intention of breaking the record made by them last Sunday, when they took the first consignment of sixty gallons of liquor to the rescue workers.

The Sunday trip was made in three hours and thirty-eight minutes. Today the automobile men hoped to make the trip in close to three hours. This would bring them to the mine shortly after noon.

The liquor being rushed to the rescue workers is bonded goods of the best quality. It is furnished by Prohibition Director Samuel F. Rutter from the government warehouses, where it was stored after confiscation from violators of the prohibition law.

The law says that liquor can be used for medicinal purposes and it is under this provision that the two consignments have been sent to the rescue workers.

When the word went out that the rescue workers were spent and exhausted from their ceaseless labors to free the entombed miners and that strong coffee had lost its power to stimulate, arrangements were made to send the liquor.

Patriotic citizens, headed by Supervisor Theodore Roche of San Francisco, secured a permit from Rutter for the liquor. Then R. C. "Cliff" Durant, president of the Durant Motor Company, offered to supply the men and the automobile to take the liquor to the rescue workers. His offer was accepted and this is the second record-breaking run made to the mine.

Rescue Worker Hurt by Cave-in JACKSON, Sept. 7.—Allene Orrop, one of the rescue workers at the Argonaut mine, was trapped by an unexpected cave-in of tons of rock and earth last night at the 3900 foot level where the rescue workers are tunneling. He was rescued by his companions with difficulty and rushed to the hospital where he was treated by Dr. E. E. Endicott. Although his condition is serious, he will recover, according to Dr. Endicott.

VIRGINIA PRELATE IS NAMED HOUSE OF BISHOPS HEAD

Episcopal Convention Elects
Officers, Gets to Business of Portland Meet.

SEATTLE, Sept. 7.—(By International News Service.)—By unanimous vote the central labor council last night called on the council of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, now in session in Portland, to amend the fourth canon of the church by providing for a working week of five days instead of six. The council represents 40,000 trade unionists of Seattle and vicinity.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 7.—Bishop William Cabal Brown, of Virginia was selected chairman of the House of Bishops succeeding Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, of Tennessee when the forty-seventh triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States formally convened late today. Bishop Gailor had served six years. Rev. Dr. Charles L. Pardee of New York, was selected secretary of the House of Bishops, succeeding Rev. Dr. George P. Nelson who retired owing to advanced years.

Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, of Boston, who was unanimously elected president of the House of Deputies, endorsed the keynote sermon of the convention which had been delivered by Bishop Edwin S. Lines, of New Jersey.

FIRST WOMAN AIDE

A feature of the election of officers of the House of Deputies was that for the first time a woman was elected as an assistant. She was Miss Helen J. Smith of New York. Her election, however, did not make her a member of the house.

W. W. Skidaway, of New York, was elected treasurer of the convention. Rev. Franklin J. Clark, New York; James G. Glass of Florida, and Helen J. Smith, New York, were chosen as assistant secretaries.

The meeting of the House of Bishops was featured by the formal greeting of the new bishops who had been consecrated since the last session, and by memorial services for those who had passed away in the interval.

NEW BISHOPS

The new bishops received were: George W. Davenport, of Eastern; W. Bertrand Stevens, of Los Angeles; David L. Perris, of Montana; Gaylord C. Bennett, of Duluth; Robert H. Miss, of Salina; Kirkman G. Finlaw, of South Carolina; William Thomas Manning, of New York; Fred Ingley, of Colorado; Theophilus M. Gardner, of Honolulu; John C. Ward, of Erie, and Herbert Shipman, of New York.

Ship Returns to S. F.

After Bay Collision
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The Japanese steamer Rakuyo Maru was forced to return to her dock here today as a result of colliding in the bay during the night with the steamer South Coast, a lumber schooner.

The Rakuyo was proceeding to sea when the collision took place. She was struck amidships and damaged, but just how seriously cannot be determined until a part of her cargo is discharged and an investigation made. Damage to the South Coast was slight.

$10,000 Suit Result of Auto Collision

Damages of $10,000 are asked in a suit filed yesterday in the superior court in behalf of Charles J. Dempster, Jr., through his guardian and father, Charles W. Dempster, against Carl Salbach. The suit is the result of an automobile accident at Harrison street, near Eleventh street, April 25, 1922. It is alleged that Salbach drove his car in such a careless and negligent manner that it hit the car driven by Dempster.

$9 Suit Sample Of Economy by Army Official

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—An example of economy compared with that now exercised throughout the army, has been set to civilian employees of the War Department by John Martin, private secretary to the Secretary of War. He is wearing the cheapest suit of clothes ever worn by a departmental officer, proudly admitting that it was fashioned from three flour sacks, purchased in Panama at a cost of $1 each. The tailor's fee brings the total cost of the outfit to $9, Martin said.

PIONEER MINER DIES

DENVER, Sept. 7.—James Joseph Brown, pioneer mining man of Colorado and one of the four original owners of the famous Ibez, or Little Johnny gold mine at Leadville, Colo., died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Henderson, at Hempstead, N. Y., according to telegram received by friends here. He was 68 years old.

COOKY EATING TOT NOW YOUNG LADY

"Well! well! So this is Lucy—the little girl who used to eat the cookies out of my cookie jar almost as fast as I could make them. I declare if she isn't a young lady now."

"Yes, she has grown, hasn't she? I can hardly realize she is my daughter, she has grown so fast. She is in high school for the first time this year and it seems to me that it makes her years older."

"Yes, they do seem to get older all of a sudden when they get that far. My two girls were the same. Of course they are both married now and I am used to the fact that they are grown up."

"Lucy is still growing and I am still having a hard time to keep her in clothes. She grows out of things so fast I can't believe it; and she is quite a tomboy, too. I'll have to admit. She needs all kinds of new clothes right now, and I don't know what will happen to our bank account if she gets much worse."

"I wonder if you know about Cherry's at 515 13th street? They have such nice clothes for young girls. Sensible sport skirts, blouses, sweaters and things of that sort. They have lots of pretty dresses for misses, too, and their prices are reasonable. In fact, they allow one six months to pay for things. A small amount down and the rest on convenient payments."

The men's store is at 523 13th street.—Advertisement.

flights, as had been their custom during the fair. Lieutenant Maynard, the pilot, apparently miscalculated his distance before attempting a tail spin. The machine failed to recover and then he attempted to throw it into a nose dive. This also failed and the plane crashed.

Maynard was alive when spectators reached the wreckage, but died before reaching a hospital. Lieutenant Wood and Mionette were instantly killed.

The planes had been in the air about twenty minutes. The three pilots had been making daily flights at the fair grounds as a "Flying Circus."

Lieutenant Maynard became internationally known in 1919 when he won the round trip transcontinental race between New York and San Francisco.

He always kept up his work as a parson, no matter how insistent the call of the air. Last April Lieutenant Maynard performed the marriage ceremony for a couple who wanted to be wed above the ground.

Two weeks ago he soared up over the Hudson with L. Wilson Berstaud, another noted flyer and Miss Helen Virginia Lent, and while in the air made them man and wife.

As winner of the transcontinental airplane race Maynard's fame was flung across the world. He flew to San Francisco from New York in 24 hours and 59 minutes actual flying time, covering that distance in less time than it had ever been covered by any other means of transportation, or by any airship.

He was banqueted in San Francisco and Oakland, where he was well known in aviation circles.

the Ross standard. This holds true in Women's Wear as

State Education Building at Capital Urged

By EDNA B. KNARD.

A state education building in Sacramento permanently to house exhibits which bear upon the educational life of California has been suggested by Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood. He has called upon the California Congress of Mothers and its affiliated associations to support such a project and to work for its ultimate achievement. The movement is the outcome of the Parent Teacher Association Day at the State Fair in Sacramento on Tuesday, when Superintendent Wood was the principal speaker.

Because of the significance which the day carried this year and the fact that the California Congress of Mothers had not only prepared on short notice exhibits of posters, needlework, and child welfare projects but in attending the fair in large numbers, announcement has been made that in the future the Parent Teacher Association Day will have an official place on the annual program of the State Fair. Already plans are being made by the women for interesting the federations throughout the state in preparation for the 1923 Child Welfare Exhibit program and celebration in which they will be the principal actors.

Mrs. Raymond Charles Cal-lager, a bride who is being welcomed to the Bay region, from her former home in Tacoma.

Oakland and Berkeley Federation of Mothers' Clubs had conspicuous places in the hurriedly assembled displays which were installed in the booth set apart for the California Congress of Mothers. The women of the college town sent their miniature bungalow with its small population of carefully dressed manikins representing the thirty departments of work. Prize posters made by California school children in competition carried on under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Tardy of Oakland demanded attention.

Sugar sacks were glorified in the contribution which went from the Santa Fe School of Oakland. Dainty children's dresses and aprons, elaborated in gay embroideries, displayed the humble origin in commerce. The philanthropic department of the local parent teacher association has devised some clever schemes of making much out of little which may send the small child to classroom well dressed. The sugar sack plays an important part.

The executive board of the California Congress of Mothers will convene in San Jose on Tuesday. In 1923 will be named at this time. Both San Jose and Stockton are striving for the honor.

Tomorrow Oakland Center, California Civic League of Women Voters will launch an active season which will include a careful study of the legislation which will be presented to the voters of the state at the November election. Aahmes Temple will again this season become the headquarters of the important body of students of public affairs. Enrollment of U. S. women who will be affiliated in the activities will be begun under a large committee headed by Mrs. Luella Ketchum. Any woman in the city interested in civic work is eligible to membership upon payment of a small annual fee.

The Boost Northern California Campaign and narcotic control will lend the program themes tomorrow. Blanks Everett of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and Dr. Ezra Allen Van Nuy, formerly of Chicago but now pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church in San Francisco, will be the speakers. Mrs. C. E. Wilson, president, will be the chairman of the day. The meeting will be called to order at 2:30 p. m.

Study of proposed legislation will be begun seriously tomorrow morning in a section which will be led by Mrs. Frank G. Law. The women will meet in Aahmes Temple at 10:30 a. m., giving over two hours to informal discussion.

Dr. Alvin Powell, director of the Alameda County Public Health Center, was the speaker yesterday before the regular meeting of the Social Workers' Association of Alameda County. The late summer days lured the men and women who are carrying on the welfare work of the Eastbay communities to Mosswood Park for the regular luncheon.

A parliamentary law class which is designed to give not alone the theory in the conduct of public meetings but afford an opportunity for practical demonstration, has been organized as a regular feature in the program of work in the Melrose Heights Parent Teacher Association. Mrs. J. T. Greenwood has undertaken the leadership of the new section, which will precede by an hour the regular sessions of the club on the first and third Fridays of each month. The interest offered in this study group is expected to be a real attraction in the campaign to bring into the membership all the mothers of the neighborhood.

Saturday night will offer the first community dance of the fall semester. The auditorium of the Melrose Heights School will offer the ballroom. Mrs. A. J. Furrer is in charge of the arrangements.

A business session and reception to new members will feature the opening meeting of the Sigma Phi Sigma Mothers' Club in the new fraternal house, 2313 Warring street, on Wednesday next. The newly elected officers will preside. They are: President, Mrs. N. P. Butler; Vice-presidents, Mrs. G. G. Frisbee, Mrs. J. B. Rosefield; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Muller.

The College Women's Club, through the current events section, is arranging a series of lectures on the subject of "The Future of the World." The series of lectures is being held by the section. A scrap book of clippings and reports contributed by the members is another feature of the interesting library service. Section members assemble on the first Monday of each month for informal discussion of political, economic, education, national and international questions. Officers of the section are: Mrs. Ethel Wood Linney, chairman; Mrs. Frances P. Jones, secretary; Mrs. Lillian Hope McFarland, librarian.

Miller-Knox Wedding Is Colorful Event

Not in many moons has society on either side of the bay witnessed so elaborate or beautifully appointed a nuptial ceremony as that which united in marriage last evening Miss Laura Lindsay Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry East Miller, of Vernon Heights, and John Bryant Knox, of Berkeley, in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Miss Adams Point, Rev. Alexander Allen, rector of that church, officiated, in the presence of fifteen hundred guests. The ritual was read at 9 o'clock at an altar "dressed" in the pastel shades of autumnal bloom against a background of fernery and foliage.

Later, at the Harry East Miller home, a reception to three hundred guests was held. There was dancing during the later hours. The wedding supper was served in a large marquee erected upon the tennis court adjoining the home. Places were set for twenty-three guests at the bride's table, at a second bride's table were seated Mr. and Mrs. Harry East Miller and the members of the bridal party at their wedding some years ago. These were Mr. and Mrs. Frederic English Moffet, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffet, of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Stevens, Miss Florence Selby and Horace Miller. The bride wore an imported medieval gown of velvet and lace, trimmed with a cascade of roses and a train of lace and tulle. The bride's veil was draped to the end of the train and worn with coronet of duchess lace and orange blossoms. Butterflies, orchids, lilies and other flowers were carried in the train. There were three bridesmaids, the bridesmaids were eight of the loveliest of the season's debutantes—Miss Claire Knight and Miss Elizabeth Ellis in lavender; Miss Janet Knox, a sister of the bridegroom and Miss Hatherly Brittain, in blue; Miss Elizabeth Moore and Miss Margaret Buckbee, in pink; Miss Elizabeth Watt and Miss Elizabeth Magee, in green. All of the gowns were in the sheer metal cloth varying in tones and patterned after the latest models in France.

The skirts were bouffant. Bows models with flounces of silver lace and tulle edged with silver hand-made flowers. Each carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Rollin Moore was best man for Mr. Knox. The ushers include Messrs. Russell MacDonald, John Boyden, Thomas Burbeck, Walter Stephens, Monroe Greenwood, Balzar Putnam, Richard Griffith, Arthur Eyre.

Miss Hilda, a former student of Miss Ransom's, in Berkeley, and Miss Ransom's, in Piedmont, has since her debut been one of the most feted of the debutantes and as a bride-elect her engagement days have been filled with social compliments from a host of friends. She is a niece of Mrs. J. Harrison Clay, Mrs. John Bell Mott. Across the bay the family includes the H. M. A. Millers and C. O. G. Millers. Mrs. Frances Langston is a cousin of the bride.

Mr. Knox is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Knox of Berkeley, and a brother of Miss Janet Knox. He is a Yale man and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity member. He served with the 346th field artillery of the 1st division for two years. After a motor trip through the southern part of the state the couple will make their home in Berkeley.

At the home of Mrs. Robert Kennedy, in Berkeley, the wedding of Miss Virginia White and Robert K. Cutler will take place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday. Miss White is an Alpha Chi Omega at the University of California.

Cutler, who is a U. C. man, is a Delta Sigma Phi fraternity man and member of the Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cutler of Spruce Street.

September 28 is the date set for the marriage of Miss Ileen Kauffman and Francis Hudson La Vigne. One hundred and fifty in-laws are to be invited to the ceremony which will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kauffman, of Rockridge. Rev. F. Augustus Martyr, rector of St. Clement's church, will officiate. The bridesmaids will include Miss Emily Noble, Miss Dorothy Rowe, Miss Marion Derby. Little Betty Kauffman will be ring bearer, and Adah Louise Kauffman will act as flower maiden.

Miss Blanch Bonham and Herbert Bonham, with their mother, Mrs. J. N. Bonham, left Saturday for a month's motor tour of the southern section of the state.

Mrs. Katherine J. Sandford is enjoying a few weeks sojourn at Redwood Springs, near Chico.

WEDDING IN PLEASANTON. Yesterday morning St. Augustine church at Pleasanton was the setting of the wedding of Miss Marcella Schween of that city and William J. Kelly of Livermore. Rev. Patrick MacGrattan read the ritual at 10 o'clock nuptial mass. Almost 300 guests attended the wedding, many of whom motored from San Francisco and the Eastbay cities.

For the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Schween home, and during the afternoon the young couple received their friends. Miss Loretta Schween, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid; Reginald Kelly of Oakland served as his brother's best man, while the ushers were Ernest W. Schween, brother of the bride, and John Kelly, brother of the groom. The bride's gown was of moleskin crepe trimmed with rare lace. The bridal veil was arranged cap effect, with a wreath of orange blossoms and trimmed with lace and beads; a pearl necklace completed the costume. Bride's roses, orchids and lilies of the valley were combined in an artistic shower bouquet.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of orchid tulle crepe beaded and a picture hat of the same shade. She carried a bouquet of roses and ferns. During the wedding service Mrs. Alma D. Cunningham, Oakland singer, sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Charles H. Schween of Pleasanton, and a member of the Schween and Martin families, who have been identified with the valley and its activities for more than 50 years. Mrs. Kelly is a graduate of a San Francisco school, and up to the time of her wedding was the motif for much entertaining in the bay cities.

Kelly lives at Livermore, where he holds a responsible position, and where the couple will make their home upon their return. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kelly of that city.

Old Alaska "Ghost City" Comes to Life

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 7.—Girdwood, one of Alaska's "ghost cities" which flourished in the early gold days but later was deserted except for a couple of families, has come to life this year as a result of the development of the Cow Creek placers and the Jewell Mining Company, and the installation of hydraulic machinery and a quartz mill.

As the work of cleaning up the town progresses, remnants of old wagons, machinery, primitive gas-line engines and other relics are coming to light. Girdwood is located on the north side of Turnagain Arm, and James Girdwood, for whom it was named, still owns a large area of placer ground in the vicinity.

POSTMASTERS TO HOLD RALLY AT WASHINGTON

Men in Charge of First, Second and Third Class Offices to Face Problems.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., September 7.—The National Association of Postmasters will meet in annual convention at Washington, September 27, 28 and 29.

Postmaster E. A. Purdy, former postmaster here, and president of the organization, who will resign at the meeting. All first, second and third class postmasters of the country, numbering about 10,000, have been notified, and it is expected that half the number will attend, Purdy said.

One important matter to come before the postmasters will be the discussion of means of expediting the handling of mail in all parts of the country with the present curtailed train schedules, according to Purdy. Dr. H. B. Work, Postmaster General, and First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett will address the convention under the tentative program.

"During the past year," President Purdy declared, "the National Association of Postmasters has cooperated with the department in standardizing methods of post office procedure, including instructions for postal employees, program for encouraging early mailing, methods of introducing postal instruction into schools, and producing a suitable course of instruction for use by teachers in business colleges and public schools."

President Purdy has named M. O. Chance, postmaster at Washington, as chairman of the arrangements committee; Postmaster Lathrop of Toledo, chairman of the program committee, and Postmaster Lueder of Chicago, chairman of the transportation committee.

Newcomers' Day

It seems fitting that after "Welcome Day"—the first day of Oakland's housewarming and the day devoted wholly to the out-of-town guest—she should welcome the new comer.

It is estimated that 25,000 people have come to Oakland to live since the 1920 census was taken.

These people are most important to Oakland. They are not here through accident of birth. They have been brought to Oakland through business connections, or by reason of the advantages Oakland has to offer in climate, beauty, and industrial or commercial opportunity.

What shall we do for the stranger that is within our gates? Or what can he do for us?

Usually this newcomer sees Oakland as she is—an important city, with unlimited possibilities industrially and residentially. Let us endeavor to get his perspective, instead of continuing to think of Oakland as she was in 1905. Let us welcome the newcomer cordially, treat him fairly, and make him glad to be one of us.

Practice welcoming the newcomer during "Welcome to Oakland Week." We must prepare our minds and hearts to welcome thousands more like him before Oakland has fulfilled her destiny.

How Well Do You Know Oakland?

Do you realize—

That Oakland's climate is coming to be recognized as the most ideal living and working climate in the United States; with an annual mean temperature of 56 degrees the lowest mean temperature for any month in a five-year period, 47 degrees, and the highest mean monthly temperature during the same period 65 degrees?

That Oakland is the healthiest city in California, the death rate last year being 10.5 per one thousand population as against San Francisco's 13.5, and Los Angeles' 13.9?

That the same favorable showing exists in the matter of infant mortality, Oakland ranking third in the entire United States?

GANG LOOTS S. F. JEWELRY SHOPS BY DARING RAIDS

Three Stores Robbed by Early Morning Auto Raids; $1000 Loss.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Three downtown jewelry stores were robbed within an hour early this morning by three men in an automobile, who escaped with a total amount of loot valued at more than $1000.

In all three places the burglars shattered the show windows with a rock wrapped in a piece of sack and in each instance took out of the window display of watches, rings and other articles of jewelry.

The jewelry stores robbed were: The Baldwin Jewelry Company, 23 Kearney street, loss estimated at $500.

The Albert Morrison Jewelry Company, 413 Kearney street, loss estimated at $400.

Julius Goldstein, jeweler, 904 Market street, losses estimated at $100.

According to the police all three jewelry stores were robbed between five and six o'clock this morning, and at the Baldwin Jewelry Company, they say, a janitor working in the upper story of adjoining building saw the automobile drive up, one man jumped out, shattered the glass and after snatching out the array of jewelry leaped into the machine and was driven off.

RUSSO-JAPANESE PARLEY HITS SNAG AND ADJOURNS

Siberian Issue Causes Deadlock at Manchurian Conference.

TOKYO, Sept. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Special despatches from Changchun, Manchuria, report that the Russo-Japanese conference there over the Siberian situation, deadlocked, adjourned yesterday to enable the delegates to communicate with their governments.

The accounts say the Russians desired to negotiate a general agreement between the Moscow soviet and Japan, while Japan proposed open discussions on the basis of the agreement reached at Dairen. The delegates were unable to find a basis to proceed.

The conference was called principally to settle the problems incident to Japan's military evacuation of Siberia. These questions include Japan's demand of reparation for the massacre of 600 Japanese at Nikolievsk in 1920; Russia's demand that Japan withdraw her troops from the north of the island of Sakhalin and Japan's refusal to comply; Japan's request for fishery privileges off the coast of Kamchatka and Japan's desire that the Amur river be thrown open; disposal of arms and ammunition at Vladivostok.

The Russian delegates are Adolph Joffe, envoy from Moscow, and Jacoby Anson, foreign minister of the Far Eastern republic at Chita. The interests of the two emissaries apparently were identical. In statements issued in Peking recently they said they would hold that full resumption of diplomatic relations between Japan and the soviet must be a preliminary to any trade agreements. They explained it was their purpose "to redeem Russian rights in Siberia."

An Associated Press despatch from Moscow yesterday stated that soviet officials are confident that the Changchun conference would bring peace to the Far East and would restore the Russian sphere of influence at Vladivostok. The railway administration was said to be preparing to re-establish through trains from Moscow to Vladivostok.

IRELAND REBELS WILL SEEK TRUCE TO END WARFARE

Members of Provisional Government Approached With View for Peace.

DUBLIN, Sept. 7.—Rebel emissaries have sent one peace feeler to the Free State government following the reported capture of Eamonn De Valera and Erskine Childers, leaders of the irreconcilables, it was understood here today.

The reports that De Valera and Childers had been captured in the vicinity of Cork and later word that both had been wounded, could not be confirmed, however.

According to word received here, persons ranking next to Childers and De Valera in the rebel forces, have approached members of the provisional government, asking for a truce.

In Dublin today the Free State government was concentrating its forces to prevent any outbreak of rebellion when the Dail meets.

Officials of the Free State government today discredited rumors that poison was found in the body of Arthur Griffith when the body was exhumed. The rumors that Griffith died from the effects of poison and not from a heart attack have been heard on the streets for weeks.

CALIFORNIA CHIROPRACTIC COLLEGE
Oakland Office—207 Pacific Building, Oakland
San Francisco Office—207 Powell St., San Francisco
For the past three years we have been seeking to start a branch of the California Chiropractic College in Oakland, and have finally decided that we will adhere to the call of our many friends, chiropractors and prospective students. We have secured a splendid suite of rooms which gives just why you should enter the C. C. C.
Before entering any professional institution you should look well into its record. Ask yourself, "Is it a responsible institution?" "What kind of its graduates?" "What kind of men form its management and its faculty?" "Are its graduates successful?" "Has it stood the test of time?"
A little history of the California Chiropractic College and an investigation of the members of its faculty will convince you that it is the only institution in the entire West for you to enter and that it is a peer in the entire United States—where means the Chiropractic World.
This College was chartered and incorporated by the State of California in 1915, and has been graduating SUCCESSFUL CHIROPRACTIC ACTORS ever since. It has graduated more SUCCESSFUL Chiropractors than all other schools combined.

FULTON
Isabelle Lowe, now leading woman of the Fulton Players, will be seen next week as "Ming Toy" in "East Is West." With her will be John Miljan, playing dramatic leads, Walter Scott Weeks, playing "dramatic heavy leads" and a cast of thirty actors besides.
"East Is West" is known as a play that ran for two solid years on Broadway, and on tour was an immense success, with Ray Bainter as the star. Its wealth of color, its many dramatic scenes, its vivid story, and flashes of fun made it, in the opinion of many, the play of the decade.
Weeks will be "Lo San Kee," the benevolent mentor of little "Ming Toy." John Miljan will be "Billy Benson," the American Jan, whose interest in "Ming Toy" culminates in his attempts to Americanize her—efforts that end in a delightful series of love scenes. This week, "Little Old New York" is drawing crowds.
CENTURY
Jack Russell in his blackface musical comedy revue "False Alarm," is delighting Century theater audiences this week.
Russell in the story is prevailed upon by a girl to use her father's alarm in the home of a stingy old rich man. The difficulties that arise out of this situation form the "gimmick" of one of the funniest musical comedies ever staged at the Century theater.
In preparation for presentation at the same theater beginning Sunday next is "The New Champion," a new musical comedy written by Russell around a fight that never comes off.
Oakland's official "Get-Acquainted Number," as composed by Jack Russell, will form the opening music for the show.
STATE
Bert Lyell in "Sherlock Brown" is the photoplay feature for the second half of the new "split-week" play just launched at the State theater.
The picture is an unusually clever comedy-drama. Its story has to do with the detection of a very serious case of criminal net.
The program of variety acts includes Lora's Oriental String Band, Davis & Harrigan in "What Not," Agnes Jones & Company in "Discontented Mary," some impersonations by Donna Lynn and "A Contest with Gravitation," by Dell, Beattie & Dell.
According to Lester J. Fountain, manager of the State theater, the new policy featuring better photoplays and new variety acts, and to theatergoers twice weekly in connection with pre-war prices is proving to be the most popular attraction. Innovation that has been launched in Oakland recently.
PANTAGES
Approved methods in courtship or how to successfully make love will be visualized on Pantages stage commencing next Sunday afternoon.
"Indoor Sports" is the title of the satire on this question, one which crosses the path of nearly every one's life.
The Lorner girls will present their artistic dance revue showing the very latest creations in this diversion. Ward and King in the comedy "My Girl." Bob Willis as "The Lad from Loughlin" and "Shadows that Talk," a novelty achieved by Gordon, Wilde and company will complete the vaudeville. Plain features will be included on the program.
NEPTUNE BEACH
The continued fine weather is bringing hundreds to Neptune Beach daily. Exciting water polo is announced as one of the chief features of the outdoor bachelors' and beach fans at Neptune Beach next Sunday.
Next Saturday, Admission Day, a program of outdoor bachelors' will be offered on the central beach platform.
During the last two months that Neptune Beach will be open, "there will be something doing" every day, according to the management.

Revivalists to Hold All-Day Services
An all day meeting to be held tomorrow at the Church of the Nazarene in Berkeley will mark the revival campaign which is at present being conducted there. Evangelist Alfred St. Clair is the speaker during the campaign.
A prayer and praise service starting at 10:30 a. m. will open the all day session and will be followed by a divine healing service at 2:00 p. m., a preaching service at 2:45 and an evangelistic service at 7:45 with Evangelist St. Clair as the speaker.
The San Francisco and Oakland Nazarene churches and the Christian and Missionary Alliance of Oakland are uniting with the Berkeley church in this all day service. Special music will be rendered by the East Bay preachers quartet and by Mrs. L. A. Reed of Oakland.
The largest single floor school in the United States is at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Ex-Nevada County People Plan Reunion
The seventh annual reunion of former Nevada county residents will be held on Saturday at Mosswood Park. All former and present residents of Nevada county, their families and friends will be welcome. Tables will be reserved for those who take their benches. A program including music, has been prepared. More than 1000 persons attended the reunion last year.
Karbach Will Urge Organized Optimism
Arthur F. Karbach, a former knight of Ak-Sar-Ben, will speak an "Organized Optimism as Applied to a City," at the weekly luncheon of the Optimists Club in the Hotel Oakland tomorrow. George Mosby chairman of the program committee will furnish special music.

Benefit Dance For Ball Team Arranged
A dance will be given tonight at Jenny Lind Hall, Twenty-third street and Telegraph avenue, by employees of the Key System Baseball Team. The general public is invited to attend.
DUKE GOES TO DEL MONTE
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The Duke and Duchess de Talleyrand have terminated their San Francisco visit. They left here for Del Monte yesterday by auto. From Del Monte they will go to Santa Barbara, and thence to New York.

SWEDISH BAPTIST DELEGATES READY FOR CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 6.—Delegates representing Swedish Baptist churches in all parts of the United States will gather here for the forty-third annual general conference to be held September 14 to 18. Sessions of the conference will be held in the Englewood Swedish Baptist church. Prior to the opening of the conference the general ministers' conference will be held Wednesday, Sept. 12, which will be addressed by John E. Spann of Chicago, Mrs. E. Hildren of Marquette, Wis., and Prof. Henry Wingblad of St. Paul, Minn.

On the opening day a historical session will be held commemorating seventy years of Swedish Baptist work in America. The work originated in Rock Island, Ill., in 1822.

At this session the Rev. J. C. Backlund of Chicago, will speak on "Our Early Pioneers." Dr. O. Hildren of Chicago will speak on "Religious Tendencies During Seventy Years" and the Rev. E. J. Nordlander of Kiron, Iowa, on "Outstanding Characteristics of the Faith of Our Fathers."

The annual reports of committees and general officers and the election of officers will be made at the conference.

On Sunday the morning conference session will be given by the Rev. Eric Carlson of Minneapolis, Minn., and the evening session by the Rev. J. A. Kallman of Topeka, Kansas.

Rivals for Girl Continue Fight At Hospital

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Pablo Hernandez and Jesus Cervantes, who fought with knives over a fair seniorita yesterday, will occupy separate cells in the Berkeley city jail, for a few days at least.

Hernandez and Cervantes occupied adjoining cells yesterday at Temple Hospital, where they were taken after they had spilled quantities of blood at a rooming house at 712 University avenue. Swathed in bandages, the two Mexicans took up their quarrel anew in the hospital.

Hospital attaches called the police. Patrolman H. D. Lee was sent to keep peace. The only way Lee could maintain quiet, according to his report to headquarters, was to sit between the two belligerents, a revolver in hand. He sat in the hospital room until late last night, when one of the men was taken to police station to face a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The other is still too weak to be taken from the hospital but is expected to be transferred to jail later today. Both refuse to divulge the name of the girl who caused their difficulties.

POLES SEEK U. S. CASH

WARSAW, Sept. 7.—Andres Moraczewski, former premier of Poland, and a leading member of the Polish Socialist party, who is now in the United States, went there with the purpose of using the money he has received in the autumn elections to the Diet.

If you see it in THE TRIBUNE tell them so.

CHIEF'S ATTACKER GIVEN SENTENCE

Herman Martin, colored, the man who attacked Chief of Police August Vollmer with a lump of coal when the officer attempted to arrest him several months ago, was sentenced to San Quentin on charges of forgery by Superior Judge G. E. Samuels today. The penalty is from two to fourteen years imprisonment.

Martin was arrested in Berkeley last March after having passed a forged check for $50 on a Berkeley bank. While being taken to the police station he escaped and took refuge on a pile of coal in a nearby yard. When Chief Vollmer tried to place him under arrest Martin struck the officer on the head with a lump of coal, but despite his injury the chief arrested him.

O. A. Fournier and J. S. McDonald, arrested some time ago in company with Arthur Love and charged with the theft of an automobile from W. T. C. Tibbitts, 2266 Central avenue, Alameda, March 20 last, were granted two years probation by Judge Samuels.

Judge Samuels decided that the complaint in the case against J. Arguello, charged with a violation of the motor vehicle act, was faulty and reversed the decision of Judge E. S. Fitzgerald, of Livermore, finding Arguello guilty.

The case will be retried before Judge Samuels.

A census in 1929 showed that only 60 per cent of the farms in America were being operated by their owner.

What's Happening in the Motor World

The arrival of the new Franklin car-cooled car and its display here at the salesrooms of the Franklin Motor Car Company, caused a great deal of favorable comment on the part of the hundreds of motorists who have seen it so far.

"The new car has many radical changes in design," says Ben Hammond, manager of the Franklin Motor Car Company distributors here. "The motor has been changed in many places this year than for many years past. The fan which forces air over the cylinders and cools them, is placed at the front end this year instead of at the rear, as in all previous Franklin models. There is a change in design of the fins which surround the cylinders and conduct the cooling air and many other changes have been made. There is a new system for vaporizing gasoline before it is taken into the combustion chamber of the cylinders.

This device causes the gas to rotate and will not allow any liquid gasoline to be forced into the cylinders.

"The demonstrating car has been kept busy in the last few days taking interested people about the city. The new car has more power than any previous Franklin model, more speed. The gear shift has been changed to the S. A. E. standard, which means that low gear is on the lower left-hand side of the H type gear shifting system.

"We have taken many orders for the new car since its arrival here, and have taken many names of those who will want cars in the near future.

"One of the newest features of the Franklin is the system for timing. The car is provided with demountable rims of new design which do not add to the unsprung weight and make tire changing easy and quick.

"Our salesroom will remain open every evening."

The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco has endorsed the Truckee River Highway from Reno to San Francisco, in preference to the Dog Valley route, which had been designated by the Highway Commission as the official highway.

This is the highway project to which the Down Town Association of San Francisco has dedicated its luncheon for today, at the St. Francis hotel. Charles J. Sadleir, president of the Nevada Highway Association, John C. Durham of Reno, Washoe county commissioner, and W. B. Gelett of Donner City, founder and director of the San Francisco-to-Reno Highway Association, were present to give the arguments for the Truckee river route. They brought with them the Donner Lake band.

Harvey M. Tait, president of the San Francisco-to-Reno Highway Association, was speaker of the day. It is pointed out that in spite of the fact that the Dog Valley route has been named the official highway by the Legislature, there will be no serious difficulty in having the Truckee river route substituted, because in the bond issue the Highway Commission "did not" substitute another route, if it should be found that the second choice should be of more benefit to the State.

The advocates of the Truckee river route insist that it will be a simple matter to prove that this is the case.

The Truckee River route runs through a beautiful scenic environment, and according to some surveys, it will be seven or eight miles shorter than the Dog Valley route; it will not be blocked by snows three months in the year, as the Dog Valley route is; the grade of the Dog Valley route is 15 per cent, as against the 7 per cent grade of the Truckee river route. If the initial cost of the Truckee river route would be more than the Dog Valley route, the benefits derived by the Truckee river route, it is claimed by its advocates, would justify the additional cost.

The Truckee river route, it is claimed, has been endorsed by the Down Town Association of San Francisco, the Northern California Hotel Association, the Reno and Truckee Chambers of Commerce, the San Jose and Sacramento Chambers of Commerce, and by 139 different organizations in San Francisco.

BRITISH CLERKS FOR GOVERNMENT TAKE LIFE EASY

Short Hours and Many Holidays Taken by Civil Service Folk Cause Worry.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—In England, as in most countries, it is very difficult to get people to work as hard for the government departments as for business houses. That is the conclusion forced upon a special committee which has been trying to find out what is wrong with the Civil Service.

Before the war the Civil Service employed 233,000 people at a cost of £29,500,000. Now it employs 255,000 at a cost of £57,400,000. Civil servants, it is stated, usually start to work in London at 10 o'clock in the morning, take three-quarters of an hour for lunch and knock off promptly at 5 o'clock, except on Saturdays, when they quit at 1:30. Their hours of work during the week thus average only 34. Their annual holidays range from three weeks to eight weeks, according to the way they are graded.

The committee sees no reason why the hours of civil servants should not be the same as those of ordinary clerks in civil employment, nor why they should get more than two or three weeks' vacation, as is customary in business houses.

"It is clear," the committee says, "that if the hours of work were increased to a moderate extent it would be possible to reduce the staffs and so effect a reduction in the cost of the service."

That is obvious, but no government has succeeded in doing it yet and meanwhile the staffs of the various government departments are not worrying over the prospect of having to work longer hours and getting shorter holidays.

TRUCK DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

Failed to Stop and Give Aid to Victim, Says Policeman Who Pursued Him.

Lee McGlynn, a truck driver, is being held in the city prison pending filing of a felony charge for not stopping and offering aid following an accident. He was arrested after being chased a block by Patrolman Weeks.

At the corner of Thirty-sixth avenue and East Fourteenth street McGlynn drove his truck into an automobile which was parked against the curb. The machine belonged to M. M. Wright, 1104 East Twentieth street. Wright was sitting in the machine and was slightly injured. The truck hit the Wright machine with such force that it bumped into a second machine parked in front of it. Both machines were badly damaged.

Weeks, who witnessed the accident, stopped a passing automobile and gave chase.

Robbers Leave Victim Unconscious in Lot

That he was beaten and robbed by two men who left him unconscious in a vacant lot in west Oakland, was the story told by Tim Farrell, aged 77, who applied at the Emergency hospital today for treatment. The victim exhibited cuts and bruises about the head to bear out his story. Farrell said he was attacked some time last night and did not sufficiently recover from the attack to seek treatment until today. He could not tell how much money had been taken from him.

Suit for German Patents to be Filed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—A suit in equity against the Chemical Foundation to recover German patents sold by the government during the war, probably will be filed in Wilmington, Del., Saturday. Attorney General Daugherty said today if the patents are recovered, he added, their disposition will be left to congress.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity,
Prevents Food Fermentation,
Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have at some time tried pepsin, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which can be obtained from practically any drugist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the Bisurated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion. CHURCH TO BEGIN 40 HOURS' RITES

The devotions of the Forty Hours' Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, an annual event in the Catholic churches, will be held this week at St. Mary's church. The ceremonies of the devotions will commence tomorrow with high mass at 10 a. m., followed by a procession in which the children of St. Mary's schools will take part. In the evening there will be Eucharistic service, a sermon by Rev. Cullen and benediction.

On Saturday morning the mass, "Pro Pace" will be offered at 10 a. m. and, in the evening, there will be devotional exercises, a short meditation and benediction. On Sunday morning the masses will be at 8:30, 9, 10, 11 and 12:15. The 11 o'clock service will be a high mass with special music by the Wilkie Conservatory choir. The Forty Hours services will conclude on Sunday night with another procession of the school children, a sermon on the Eucharist and benediction.

GAS KILLS THREE; LIQUOR BLAMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Thomas Hicks, 39, and his wife, of the Chft Hotel, and Harry Walsh 35, a stevedore, were found dead this morning from gas asphyxiation in a room at 349 Minna street. According to the statement made by P. O'Brien, proprietor of the rooming house, to the police, the two men, showing plainly that they were under the influence of liquor, rented the room together late last night. It is believed that they accidentally turned off the gas before retiring and were overcome while they slept.

FOUR SLAIN IN CRASH

LUXEMBURG, Wis., Sept. 7.—Four persons were instantly killed and three others injured, one perhaps fatally, late yesterday when a Green Bay and Western passenger struck an automobile at a crossing here.

Frank Ourank, a farmer of Montpelier, his wife and their son and daughter were killed in the crash.

POISONED BY MISTAKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Mrs. H. D. DeFoe, colored, was taken to the Central Emergency hospital early this morning from her home at 1255 Kearny street, where she was treated for poisoning. When she was resuscitated sufficiently to be able to speak, she told hospital attaches that she was suffering from a cold and arose in the darkness and took the poison tablets in mistake for a cold remedy. Her condition is reported to be serious.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS PUBLIC DRIVE TO COLLECT $50,000

Week of September 19-26 to Be Devoted to Campaign For Needed Cash.

The Oakland Y. M. C. A. is preparing for an active season. The week of September 19-26, inclusive, will be devoted to a campaign for $50,000, an appeal to the public.

Inaugurating this even will be a week of activity, beginning Monday evening next, with a rally dinner at the "City" building, Twenty-first street and Telegraph avenue.

At this rally will gather all the officers, committeemen, leaders and volunteer workers of the association.

Speakers of the evening will include E. J. Mogee of the Y. M. C. A. International Committee, who will talk on "Life's Enrichment Through Service."

Then there will be William Gillanders, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., and campaign director, who will speak on "The Program of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. for 1922 and 1923."

On Tuesday evening the Lounge Men's Division of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its opening banquet at 6:15 o'clock.

The program will include musical offerings by Miss Zanetta W. Potter, Lloyd Younger, Association pianist, and George D. Spaulding, social secretary. General Secretary Gillanders will extend greetings.

Shirley Snow, physical director of the division, will also talk. F. A. Briggs, manager of Sherman, Clay & Co., will make the talk of the evening.

Tuesday also marks the opening dinner of the "Hi Y Clubs," senior and junior high school students.

Wednesday of the regular monthly dormitory dinner will be held with resident members of the "Y" attending.

Thursday will see the opening banquet of the Employed Boys' Brotherhood.

The regular Weekly Fellowship meeting will be held at noon on Friday.

Bureau Work to Be Departmentalized

HAYWARD, Sept. 7.—With the appropriation of $100,000 made by the Alameda county farm bureau granted by the board of supervisors of the county, Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent, is going ahead with arrangements to departmentalize the work of the bureau.

Joseph Hamon, assistant, has already taken over the horticultural department. It is probable that within a very short time a poultry expert will be procured to take charge of the poultry department. Robinson will then be in charge of the livestock department and will have general supervision of the bureau.

During the past year, Robinson said today, the bureau has experienced a pronounced increase in members, and interest in the bureau and its work is increasing even more rapidly. The departmentalization of the bureau will, it is believed, permit an extension of program which is now impossible.

Hamon and Robinson will proceed at once with orchardists, who are members of the bureau, to organize a horticultural department of the bureau. The success of the poultry department is pointed to as warranting this move.

District Attorney in Lake County Beaten

LAKEPORT, Sept. 7.—The district attorney of Lake county, H. B. Churchill, met defeat in the primary election when Ben Jones polled 1050 votes to his 705.

Lynn McKelley, candidate for sheriff at the general election four years ago, pulled a comeback at the primary election this year when he defeated his rival, Sheriff E. F. Shaul. McKelley received 1234 votes to 747 for Shaul.

CONCORD NOTES

CONCORD, Sept. 7.—The Concord Chamber of Commerce held its regular meeting and banquet Monday evening and final preparations were made for participation in the state fair at Sacramento.

Miss Mary Crenna was appointed by the members to represent this section on Contra Costa Day, and transportation facilities were arranged for the local boys' band.

In connection with the new electric light system being installed on the principal streets of town, the matter of erecting street signs was taken up, and a committee appointed to lay the plans for same.

The thirty-five members present were served a repast by the ladies of the Presbyterian Aid Society.

The machines of A. Brillhart, local P. G. and E. representative, and W. Dwyore, owner of the Herbert Garage, were stripped of several extras, including a tire, storage battery, spotlight and radiator top, last evening, by someone who was seen leaving the locality by Dr. F. F. Eldenmuller.

The machines were parked near the garage and Dwyore was within ten feet of them when the robbery took place.

Miss Edith Lodi left Concord the first of this week for a seven months' tour of northern Mexico and southern California. Miss Lodi intends visiting relatives in Los Angeles and will accompany them into Mexico.

The Apron and Overall social given by the members of the Mount Diablo lodge, Order of Rebekahs, last Saturday evening was a marked success. The affair was an invitational one. Fully 400 local and out-of-town Rebekahs and their friends were in attendance.

Mrs. F. Savage left yesterday for Salt Lake City, where she will be the guest of her niece, Miss Dorothy Gavin. Miss Gavin is a former resident of Concord and has resided in Salt Lake for the last year.

Mrs. Anne Ostrand of Ignacio Valley, sold her ranch the first of the week to an eastern firm. The Ostrand ranch is the only one in Ignacio Valley set out to Avocado pears.

EAST SIDE VERY ACTIVE

BUILDING BEGUN ON NEW ELECTRIC COMPANY PLANT

First Unit of Structure in Foundation Stage; Cost Placed at $125,000.

Work is actively under way on the new General Electric Company plant at East Fourteenth street and Fifty-fourth avenue. The first unit will be 137 feet by 335 feet, fronting on East Fourteenth.

The front of this building will be devoted to offices and will be two stories high. This height will carry clear through the central portion of the building, 63 feet wide to the rear, providing for a crane way the full length. At either side the structure will be of one-story height, that being all that will be required for the machine work and ordinary processes of manufacture for the present.

W. L. Hook, superintendent for the foundation company which is erecting the building, states that the entire foundation will be completed within about a week from this date. The cost without equipment will be approximately $125,000.

This structure, however, may well be considered as only a small portion of the plant that is to be, for the entire area of ground belonging to the General Electric Company in this one piece amounts to some 23 acres, extending all the way from East Fourteenth street to the main line of the Western Pacific, which runs approximately parallel with East Fourteenth.

One factor of interest in connection with this plant is that it will not need to rely on the supply of water for manufacturing purposes from the outside as the company has made tests which demonstrate conclusively that there is sufficient water now underlying the property to supply all demands. Whether this condition will be permanent in case wells should be sunk on adjoining properties is a matter of

Personal Note Basis Of Success in Store

Fruitvale's big grocery store, "the store of personal service" operated by Brown the Grocer at East Fourteenth street and Thirty-seventh avenue, is built on a foundation combining an exceptional number of those elements which go to make a successful institution for supplying the needs of the home table.

Brown the Grocer has been doing business in the same location for sixteen years. He first opened the grocery in 1906 and has built up the present large business by careful, courteous attention to customer requirements in general and in detail. The business now transacted by this store includes not only that of the Fruitvale neighborhood. It has extended over a large portion of East Oakland and has made it necessary to provide for a large store business of those who carry home their own supplies and in addition to constantly increase the delivery service which cares for telephone orders.

One of the principle factors in Fruitvale development as a buying center, as Brown the Grocer sees it, is the fact that the main artery of travel to and from Alameda county points outside Oakland is via East Fourteenth street. Thousands of tons of vegetables, fruits and other farm products are brought into Oakland by this route on auto trucks each year. Fruitvale, being more than three miles out from the main business center of the city, it is a distinct advantage to growers to be able to sell in Fruitvale, thus saving at least an hour's time against the necessity of delivering to other marketing sections.

Another advantage lies in the benefit to the Fruitvale resident in calculation, but it is not anticipated that many wells will be sunk in this immediate neighborhood.

Friday Buying in Fruitvale

Fruitvale merchants are feeling the effect of a local buying movement on Friday, each week, brought about by the offering of special values on Thursday for Friday purchasing of home supplies.

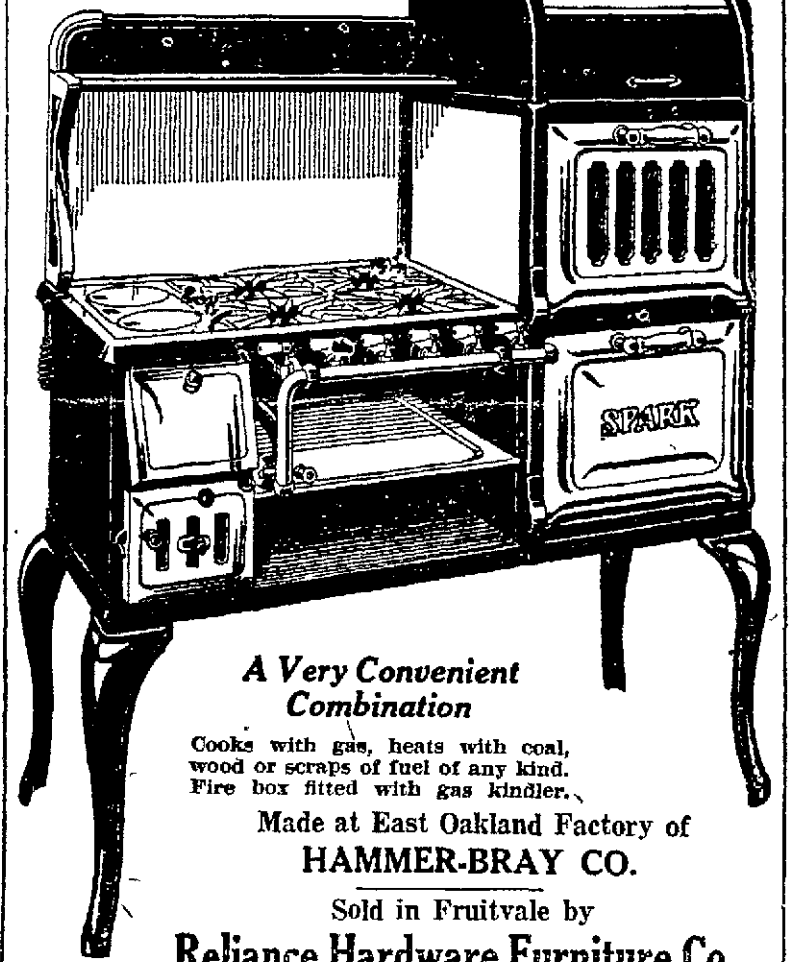

Memorial Park Plans Resumed

The large majority in favor of Memorial Park bonds has caused a continuation of the S. O. S. committee's activities. The vote was 23,486 for and 16,188 against the bonds, which is taken as indicating sentiment in favor of further efforts to save the big East Side park.

Plans and elevation of idealistic one-room bungalow prepared by California Subdivision Company especially for use in Hopkinstown. The use of this type of bungalow is intended to be for temporary homes for lot buyers who cannot afford to build larger houses, or who find it necessary to build a small house in which to live while erecting a permanent house. Because of the complete modern arrangements, the plan is adapted to permanent homes.

A-1 ROOM BUNGALOW

have been made for free building plans for each purchaser of lots in Hopkinstown on that day and the Sunday following, if the plans hold out. An ample supply has been arranged for, but the Hopkinstown bargains have become widely known, and a large attendance is anticipated Saturday and Sunday, not only of those who drive out by automobile along Excelsior avenue and Hopkins street to the tract, but also of street car travel by the C or Hopkins car from Twelfth and Broadway.

EVERY CONVENIENCE.

The plans of the Hopkinstown one-room bungalow include every convenience needed in the modern home, including bath room, built-in features, kitchen sink, etc. One room, by a number of essential arrangements, provides many comforts without in any way detracting from the enjoyment of any. In fact, it is stated that occupants of these homes will find them more home-like and enjoyable than many of the houses erected at large cost for well-to-do people.

Another advantage of the California Subdivision Company's one-room model is that it lends itself nicely to the use of vines and other plants. In the Oakland climate plants may be used for decorative effects all the year through, by careful selection. In the Fruitvale climate which is said to be among the best of Oakland, this is particularly true. Hopkinstown is right in the Fruitvale belt and the pleasantly warm, equable character of this climate is suitable to place growth and human comfort as well.

Fruits of the finest varieties and most delectable flavors are now grown on Hopkinstown land. It is easy to conceive the hospitable aspect of a home in Hopkinstown with fruit trees in the yard and a carefully selected and arranged combination of vines and flowers along the walls of the little bungalow, and the fact that this may be obtained at low cost and within easy reach of the main business center of the city by frequent electric service is drawing a flood of home-seekers that is expected to speedily change Hopkinstown into a completely settled home locality where lots will be hard to get at anywhere near the present bargain prices. This transition, in fact, is

EAST SIDE BOARD PLANNING SAFETY FOR PEDESTRIANS

Campaign Proposed to Curb Accidents Getting on and Off Cars

Plans of East Side Board of Trade embrace many needed extensive, necessary improvements. Some of these plans were discussed at the meeting of the Board of Directors held at the office of the Secretary, R. O. McCline, Tuesday evening, September 5.

McCline reports that the building situation is improving in some respects. The demand for building materials seems to hold as strong as ever and, in fact, McCline's Thermo Wall Company has been delayed in some of its work by tardy deliveries and has been compelled to employ special trucks in order to keep workmen from being delayed. One thing that makes building easier seems to be that among the many new arrivals in Oakland are a large number of good mechanics. While there seems to be employment for all good men in East Oakland home building, it is now easier to get good work done promptly than was formerly the case.

MOSS ESTATE LOTS AFFORD OPPORTUNITY

The "wind-up" of the Moss Estate is now under way, and the Minney Company is calling special attention to the advantages of this slightly Foothill boulevard property. The Minney Company has sold a great deal of property in East Oakland, including Melrose Heights, Ivywood Extension and other tracts. Minney is of the opinion that the large lots of the Moss Estate now afford exceptional opportunity for investment in home property on the boulevard.

Minney calls attention to the fact that a great volume of west bound automobile traffic is daily entering Oakland via the Lincoln Highway and East Oakland and that many of these newcomers are being attracted by the beautiful home sections which cover a large portion of this large civic section. He deducts from this that a still greater demand for homes in East Oakland will soon take place than what now exists. It is thought that the values being offered at the Moss Estate will result in the sale of the last of these lots very soon.

MODERN MARKET LAUNCHED NEAR MELROSE DEPOT

George and Koopers Brothers Spend $15,000 to Install Perfect Equipment

Owing primarily to the enterprise of George and Koopers Brothers, the people of Melrose now have a modern and up-to-date market located on the north side of East Fourteenth street in the building adjoining the Bank of Italy building, opposite Melrose station.

George and Koopers Brothers are Alameda merchants who have seen the business floating past the doors of Melrose merchants and have decided to locate here a market of the finest class in Oakland. In fact it is stated that the building and equipment are not excelled by any similar institution east of Lake Merritt. They have spent approximately $15,000 in renovating the building in which the market is located and installing perfect equipment, including a fine refrigerating plant. They are operating the fruit and vegetable supply service, which has the center and west side of the market.

The meat market has been placed in the hands of Davis and Jacobson, who have two meat markets on Telegraph avenue and two in Elmhurst, having been in business in this city a long time. The refrigerating plant, which was installed by George and Koopers Sons for their use, consists of an ammonia machine of York manufacture, driven by a General Electric motor, from which machine pipes run to a cooling room of ample capacity. The cases are of a slab used for store service in the meat department are clean and sanitary.

The delicatessen is operated by Mrs. Stewart, who is well known to Oakland marketmen, having formerly been located at Twenty-second and San Pablo, in the same line of business, and also, at Eighteenth and Telegraph.

George and Koopers Brothers are convinced that Melrose is an ideal location for the market business, both from a selling and a buying standpoint. Their fruits and produce come from all parts of Alameda county and as far away as Seattle, where they have buying interests, all these goods being hauled to Melrose by auto truck.

Seized Records

Returned to Klan

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—Four large boxes filled with records of the Ku Klux Klan in California were yesterday returned to attorneys for that order by the office of the district attorney here. The records were originally seized under a search warrant and were used in a recent trial of thirty-seven purported clannsmen, on felony charges, which trial resulted in acquittals.

It was announced yesterday by Klan attorneys that William S. Co-burn, former grand goblin in California, and one of the acquitted defendants, had left Los Angeles for Georgia, where he planned to practice law.

Though invited to do so, the Prince of Wales refused to cross the sacred bridge of Nikko.

MRS. MACKIE ASKS SON'S REMOVAL AS ONE TRUSTEE

Widow of Well-Known Alameda Begins Suit to Get $300.

Asking that her son, Alexander Mackie, Jr., be removed as trustee of a fund left by her husband, the late Alexander Mackie, Sr., Mrs. Rosalia Mackie today filed suit in the superior court to compel the trustees to turn over to her $300. The complaint, which was filed by the firm of Creed, Jones and Dahl, sets forth that at the time the senior Mackie died he left as part of his estate a life insurance policy for $27,111. He named his two sons, Paul T. and Alexander Mackie as trustees of the fund, which was to be used for the benefit of the widow. The complaint alleges that for several months past the widow has repeatedly demanded $300 which she says is necessary for her support and maintenance, but that the trustees have consistently refused to turn over the money.

The suit asks for the appointment of T. H. Kelsey as trustee in the place of Alexander Mackie, Jr., whom the court is asked to remove. Alexander Mackie was a prominent figure in Alameda public life.

SUSPECT TAKEN FOR AUTO THEFT AFTER WILD RACE

David Pearlman Believed
Member of Nation-Wide Gang.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—David Pearlman, alleged automobile thief, swindler and fugitive from justice, who was removed from a train at San Jose today by local detectives, admitted this afternoon that Mrs. Blanche Murphy, alias Mrs. Pearlman, who is under arrest at Los Angeles in connection with an automobile stealing charge, is his wife. In a wild and exciting race in an auto with the overland from the authorities, accompanied by Henry R. Leong, to whom Pearlman is said to have sold a stolen automobile, overtook the train, leaving this city twenty minutes after its departure.

The automobile in question was identified as one of three of similar make and design stolen in New York and brought to San Francisco.

Adventurers Invite Snow to Join Club

H. A. Snow, Oakland big game hunter, recently returned from Africa, has received an invitation to join the Adventurers club. This club, with chapters only in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Long Beach, is made up of a few men who have risked their lives in adventurous pursuits in far corners of the world.

Snow said yesterday that he would accept the invitation to join the club, but hopes later that he may be able to establish a branch of the club in connection with the new museum when it is erected in Oakland. Among the Southern California members are Count the Countess Raimond, C. T. Coleman, Louis Rothman, Chester Ellsworth, F. Marshall Sanderson and Dr. E. F. Bailey.

Peace Sought in War Over Garage

After a lengthy hearing before the city council this morning, parties against a proposed auto machine shop on Twenty-second street west of Telegraph avenue were laid over one week in order to allow builders and protestors to confer in an effort to reach an agreement. The city council is now in the midst of the hearing and is expected to build up the city. The apartment house owners nearby protested the alleged fire danger nuisance. The Segrave Company was awarded the contract for furnishing two 750-gallon pumping engines for the fire department. The city attorney was authorized to bring suit against the Hogan Building Company for damage and to sue the Hogan dock, where the city and the Hogan figures on income do not agree.

SOVIETS SEIZE BRITISH SHIPS; GREEKS IN FLIGHT

SMYRNA, threatening disease and famine.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The 200,000 Greek and Armenian refugees from the interior of Asia Minor who are pouring into Smyrna present a tremendous relief problem. The first steps for preventing threatened epidemics and wholesale starvation were taken today at a conference of American Relief Agencies presided over by Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, U. S. N., at which the Smyrna emergency relief committee was organized. The committee is composed of representatives of the Near East Relief, the American Red Cross, the American Mission Board, the Y. M. C. A., and the Y. W. C. A. These organizations are besieged with appeals to ship immediately all available supplies of medicines and foodstuffs to Smyrna. The messages picture the deplorable plight of the refugees who are forced to abandon everything for a trek of several days under a broiling sun.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(By International News Service.)—Turkish forces on the offensive against the Greeks on the Anatolian battlefield are advancing with astonishing rapidity and are only 21 miles from Smyrna, seat of Greek headquarters, according to unconfirmed advices from Constantinople today. One hundred thousand Greeks, not counting the civilians, are in flight.

General Tricoups, active Greek commander in the field, was reported to have been captured. The Greeks attempted a stand on the northern end of the front and succeeded in annihilating a Turkish cavalry regiment. Advices from Athens deny that former Premier Venizelos is returning to that city. Venizelos was in control of the Greek government at the end of the war when the allies compelled King Constantine to abdicate. Later, when Constantine returned, as the result of a popular plebiscite in his favor, Venizelos became an exile.

Constantinople dispatches say the Greeks have evacuated four more towns. The Turks are reported to control virtually all the Asiatic coast of the Dardanelles.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(By International News Service.)—With Premier Lloyd George presiding, the British cabinet met today to discuss the Near East crisis (precipitated by the Turkish defeat of the Greeks) and a reply to the French war debt note. It is understood that Great Britain will propose a new treaty to take the place of the treaty of Sevres.

The British are now said to be inclined to accept the French attitude that the allies shall not intervene, but shall allow the Turks and Greeks to fight it out and arrange their own armistice terms. This is suitable to the Turks, but not to the Greeks, who believed the allies would get them better terms.

Italy suggests that the Near East peace conference open in Vienna on September 15. The Greeks are urging speed in getting it under way.

Admission Day Decree Issued by N.S.G.W. Head

Official proclamation of Admission Day on September 9, anniversary of California's admission into the Union, was made today by Harry C. Williams of Oakland, grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, as follows:

To All Native Sons of the Golden West, to All Californians, and to All Americans: The cycle of time again brings us to the month of September, and as well that we pause to consider that this day marks the natal day of our beloved and glorious State of California.

This year we celebrate the seventy-second anniversary of the admission of California into the Federal Union. An event that marked the end of the era of uncertainty as to our National status, whether a confederation of separate peoples or a single nation, one and indivisible. When William Fillmore, President of the United States, on September 9, 1850, dipped his pen in the ink to sign the act admitting California into our Union, he dipped it in the "Well of Destiny," and wrote into the annals of civilization words of far-reaching effect.

It was the admission of California, the thirty-first State, that broke the carefully maintained "balance" which had been maintained in the National Senate. It was the admission of California, the Sixteenth Free State, that marked the "beginning of the end" of slavery.

It was the admission of California, the first State bordering upon the Pacific, that placed our National boundary firmly on the western shore.

Of the events preceding the admission of California into the Union every American should look with pride. California, alone of all the States admitted after the thirteen original States, came into the Union with territorial childhood, and this fact is but an evidence of the stirring days of the Forties. For on this far-flung western shore, remote from the seat of power, without force to compel it and in defiance of the traditions of every other "gold rush" known to the annals of man, the sturdy, independent, tolerant, upright pioneers had erected a government founded upon no other charter than the "will of the People." Here, a child alone, here, integrity alone vouched one, here courage was the common attribute, and here a man was weighed only in his true worth.

For nearly a year our fathers had conducted a full grown, virile American State, our State government dating its birth on the 19th of December, 1849. Admission Day then really signifies that it was on that date that California strengthened the "family of the Nation" by the advent of a full grown member; and on that day enriched the American law by the addition of new and most desirable principles. Need I say more on this line than to indicate the fact that it was California which was the first to give the world a birth to a partner and not a chattel.

When in the centuries to come, the historian, looking back over the ages, comes to writing of the brightest period in American civilization, he will put the "Days of Forty-nine" in the same category with the "Age of Pericles" and the "Age of Augustus Caesar." For, though our glory be multiplied and our power tripled, never will mankind see more glorious period nor more Godlike people.

All hail to the Pioneers of California! every reverence let us show to the Men of Forty-nine. Let the "Spirit of Forty-nine" be our standard and the Republic be safe and humanity justified.

To the "sons of the soil" there comes a birth a heritage and a duty. To us who have been privileged to be born under the balm of California, there has come a heritage "fairer and greater than the seeds of old be held in the dream of the golden future." We have been blessed beyond the fondest hopes of mankind; and with this heritage came the duty to forever uphold the traditions and the civilization of the founders. Let us hold fast to their tried, true and proven doctrines.

To every Native Son I proclaim the inviolability of the law; and I command you, as your chosen leader, to obey its precepts. In these days of trial, I exhort you to walk upright and with the utmost respect for our government and our traditions. To you has been given great gifts, from you the least to be expected is good example. It is not that our law is to be considered perfect, but that we should cure its defects only in the manner of our fathers, our example to the world and to the sojourners within our gates be in the slogan of our Order, "Down with oppression and up with the law."

Our duty is founded in good citizenship; let no Native Son neglect his obligation in this respect. See to it that the "force of reason" shall ever prevail over the "force of passion and sedition." You are freemen, citizens of the greatest Nation that ever existed on the earth. Let no act of yours in even the smallest degree savor of disrespect for the institutions of America, but fear no consequence when engaged in the work of your country and your state. Keep California clean, and make her the guiding star, not only of America, but of all mankind.

Remember that the Native Sons of the Golden West are banded together in an unselfish brotherhood; that we do not hold that we are better than men born beyond the borders of our state; that we feel as sons of a common mother, "California," a higher duty is coming from us to spread her fame, to keep her name untarnished, to maintain her honor unsullied and to cherish her highest ideals. Keep ever in mind that

Health Exposition Benefits Shown

The barrier which the United States rises against the encroachment of communicable diseases will be further strengthened by the International Health and Safety Exposition, November 17 to 26, in the opinion of Dr. H. E. Foster, health officer of Oakland, who today discussed the educational work of the exposition to the world and to the sojourners within our gates.

The exposition is being put on by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of health agencies and public health officers to educate the public to the need for conservation of health and prevention of accidents.

Dr. Foster believes the show will bring home to the people a number of vital problems, insuring better co-operation in future between the public and the health authorities.

N. S. G. W. Lay Plans to Aid Children

FINED FOR HITTING SWIMMER After entering a plea of guilty to a charge of battery, Domingo Petrello today was fined $10 by Police Judge Smith. Petrello admitted that he struck Norman Henderson, 16 years old, 745 Lytle street, while they were in swimming. Petrello explained to the court that he thought Henderson was a swimmer and he tried to strike him during an argument which they had while in the tank.

YOUTH, TRIED ON GIRL'S CHARGE, ACCUSES POLICE

Officials Tortured Him Into Confession, Alleges Purnel Knudson.

Purnel Knudson, one of the three youths on trial for a statutory offense against Vilette French, 18-year-old Fremont high school girl, whom the trio is accused of kidnapping and abducting, took the witness stand in his own behalf yesterday. Knudson told a story of alleged abuse at the hands of police officials, which led him, through fear of further mistreatment, he said, to confess to the crime against the girl.

Knudson charged Chief of Police W. H. Wahlmuth and Detective Jack Conant, of the Alameda police force, with being the men who beat him and twisted his arms in their endeavor to compel him to confess. Knudson was followed on the stand by two officers, both of whom denied the charges and told of Knudson's apparent willingness to tell the entire story of his many slanders. The prosecution called three who had not been suspected nor connected with the French case until voluntary statements by Knudson brought the matter to light.

GIRL FACES YOUTH

The other two defendants, Ben Jeffries and Jason Michelson, did not take the stand, although at first it was planned to allow them to tell their stories of the alleged confessions which they are said to have made. When Knudson took the stand a dramatic moment developed when Assistant District Attorney Theodore Witschen called Miss French into the courtroom and placed her in a chair directly facing the witness stand.

Attorneys Leo Sullivan and G. E. Case, representing the defendants, objected to the girl being in the courtroom, due to an order excluding witnesses from the room. "I have her here for a deliberate purpose," declared Witschen. "In her testimony she said that because she was blindfolded or these boys were masked at all times during the abduction and the crime against her she has not been able positively to identify them. However she did hear them talk, and after she has listened to their testimony she will be able to identify them. I am going to recall her and ask her if she recognizes their voices."

Superior Judge L. S. Church ruled that the girl remain in the courtroom and at the conclusion of the trial the defense declined to place the others on the stand. The state began the introduction of the three confessions late yesterday and the reading was continued today. Miss Edith Cooley, who stood by the girl during the notes, reading the confessions from her original transcription. Special precautions to guard against any attempt at escape by the three defendants have been taken. The state has employed five deputy sheriffs, all heavily armed, are in constant attendance on the trial.

COMPLAINANT TELLS STORY. Miss French was on the stand yesterday afternoon and told the story of the crime against her. In a low, steady voice, and at times whispering her answers, she sketched briefly the abduction and the subsequent acts of the three defendants. It was necessary for the court frequently to admonish her to speak louder so that the jurors could hear her story. The courtroom was cleared of all spectators, a large crowd being forced to leave during the recital of the girl's story.

Sadie Leads African Hunter Merry Chase

"Sadie" was the chased and H. A. Snow, African game hunter, was the chaser in an exciting chase during the early hours of this morning over the roofs of cages, outhouses, a barn and up into the branches of pine trees at the temporary museum, in the old Kendall home at Nineteenth and Alameda streets.

"Sadie" is an 8-month-old Indian snub nose and full of tricks as an East Indian conjurer and as full of "pep" as a jazz dancer. She is a recent gift to the city from Mrs. H. J. Stroen-jan, 549 Haddon road.

When "Sadie" felt uncomfortable so close to the lions or was merely seeking freedom is not known, but when Snow returned home about midnight he discovered that "Sadie," although only a cub, had literally lifted off the top of the cage and escaped.

Sadie was finally located in the top branches of a pine tree nearby. The chase and capture followed.

The cub was placed in the barn and today proved a somewhat rough but playful companion for little Norma Snow, aged 7, who accompanied her parents in their recent African trip, and Phyllis Burdett, aged 5. Mrs. Snow's granddaughter, two children, today for the first time today in the city, and the cub was placed in the house, where she continued beating her. The couple were married in 1917 and separated last Tuesday. The complaint asks for $100 a month temporary alimony and $150 for attorney's fees.

Husband Left Home Too Often, Charge

Nine times in the two years of their married life her husband, David Beasley, packed up his things and left the family home, according to a divorce complaint filed today by Helen Beasley. The wife charges that the frequent migrations of her spouse from the domicile were due to fits of temper which he appeared unable to control. She alleges that his course of conduct has caused her to leave the home and that she is unable to support herself.

KAMM DEAL MAY MEAN 1922 PENNANT FOR S. F. SEALS

DR. C. H. WALTER IS ELIMINATED IN FIRST ROUND OF STATE AMATEUR GOLF TOURNAMENT

HURLERS COMING AS PAYMENT FOR KAMM TO HELP THE SEALS

Sacramento Had Chance to Get Jim Scott in Trade for Outfielder Pete Compton.

BY EDDIE MURPHY.

Is the sale of Willie Kamm, sensational third sacker of the San Francisco Seals, to the Chicago White Sox, going to mean the winning of the 1922 pennant for the transbay club? At the time of the sale, the White Sox immediately sent out Doug McWeeney, a pitcher as part payment, and the new chucker has proven a great help to the Seals in their struggle to win the pennant. Now the Seals are being hard pressed by the Vernon Tigers. The Tigers are only a game in the rear of the Seals and it looks like the leaders need all the help they can get. From all indications, the Seals are going to be given plenty of last minute help. The Chicago White Sox owners are the ones who will send it. A couple of days ago, Danny Long, White Sox scout announced that Courtney, a southpaw who was with Washington last season, was on his way to Seattle to join the Seals. And to follow that up, Long announced yesterday that "Shovel" (C. C.) Hodge, a right hander is also on his way to help out the transbay club in its final weeks of fight for the flag.

Both Hodge and Courtney are also coming as part payment for Willie Kamm, so if these pitchers are the help to the Seals as Manager Jack Miller expects them to be they will just about level the playing field. The other is Sam Dever, who has pitched a number of good games for the Fort McDowell Club.

EASY FOR WILLIAMS.

Nick Williams, scout for the San Francisco Seals, returned from an ivory hunt which lasted since last May and all he had for his bosses was one player named "Flash" Kemper, a shortstop, who was with the Independence Missouri Club. A price of $2500 was paid for the player. Landing one player in four months does not sound like Williams had much success as a scout.

JIM SCOTT PASSED UP.

It leaked out yesterday afternoon at the local park that the Sacramento Senators passed up a chance last winter to get Jim Scott, now star pitcher of the Seals in a trade for Pete Compton. Instead, the Senators took Justin Fitzgerald for Compton, and Justin soon reappeared from the game. Oh, what a blunder!

"SPEED" SAYS "HELLO."

Edwood (Speed) Martin, former Oakland and Chicago Cub pitcher, writes from St. Paul to say that he is going to play for the Seals and also to say "hello" to his local friends. St. Paul was leading the American Association race at the time of writing and "Speed" looks for the Seals to play the Baltimore club in a June World Series.

BROWN OUT TWO WEEKS.

The Oakland outfield is all shot to pieces these days. Claude Cooper is still out with his hand which he broke in the north a month ago. He is expected to be back next week. But Don Brown hurt his leg while sliding into third last Tuesday and will be out for a couple of weeks. When Brubaker got put out of the game yesterday, Marrott had to reappear, and "Burr" Arlett was sent to left field. Schulte and Wile are doing good work in the outer pastures.

SENIORS TRYING ROOKIES.

Ever Moreau and Charley Pick of the Senators are not losing any time in making use of the opportunity to try out a lot of youngsters now that the player limit has been raised to thirty-five. They signed up a couple of high school boys and they may all be seen in action this week. Manger, the lad who played third yesterday, is a Sacramento rookie, and he looked pretty good at bat and in the field.

OAKS LAND A CUPLE.

A new pitcher and outfielder landed by the Oakland manager yesterday. Wright, a fellow standing six feet, three inches, and who pitches right-handed, reported to the team yesterday. He dropped into the office and asked to be given a chance. He had just finished high school, and was a member of the team. Frank Olson, an outfielder from the More Island Marines may get a chance this week to show what he can do. He worked out yesterday morning and he was given a chance to go forward very much by his style in going after the long ones, and his actions at the plate.

IVAN HERE NEXT YEAR.

For the benefit of any who who think that the Oakland manager will have another new manager next season, it will be said now that Del Howard stated yesterday that Ivan Howard will lead the team for another season at least. Considering all the injuries and talent that he had, Ivan has done well to keep the team battling for a place in the first division. If Ivan had some reserve talent to call on when injuries hit the club, he would have given better results.

PICK THINKS TIGERS.

Charley Pick, manager of the Sacramento club, thinks that the San Francisco Seals are much better than the best club in the Coast League and that they should beat out the Vernon Tigers. However, he believes the Tigers will win the pennant. Charley is a little something that will keep the Seals from winning the flag again if they look to be the best club. Charley cannot explain just what that something is.

ZAMLOCH SIGNS PITCHERS.

Carl Zamloch, scout for the Cincinnati Reds, has been keeping his eyes on the bush fields around here, and was able to grab a couple of young pitchers for tryouts with the Reds. Oswald Austin, a right-

Triple Play Fails to Help Oakland Club

Carroll Canfield Beats Ira Colwell of Oaks in Mound Duel.

The Sacramento Senators made it two straight wins over the Oaks by one-run margins when they took yesterday's game by a 4 to 3 score. The Oaks pulled a lightning triple and a double play, both started by Ray Cravens, (but they failed to bring winning results.

Carroll Canfield opposed Ira Colwell on the mound, and did the pitching, holding the Oaks to six hits, while Colwell was touched for nine. The Senators bunched four hits in the eighth inning to net them three runs and the ball game. Ryan's triple and Schimke's single in the second gave the visitors their first run, and then the stage was set for the double play. Manger, the new Senator, drew a walk, and the bugs became full when Pearce laid down a bunt and was safe on a fielder's choice. Cook hit a liner which Chavez got off the toes of his shoes, and the kid shortstop whirled and heaved the ball to Cather to double out Manger, and Cather threw to Lafayette to get Pearce and complete the triple play.

The Oaks did not get a run off Canfield until the sixth when Bingham was chased from the game by Umpire Mason because he tossed his bat to the ground after Eason called a strike. Arlett took the bat from Brubaker and batted a double to left field. Willie's sacrifice bunt and Schimke's sacrifice fly to center field, and Cather threw to Lafayette to get Pearce and complete the triple play.

The game was tied 9 to 9 but was yanked out after the Tailors had scored the game with nine runs. Wright held the Tailors hitless and runless and struck out eighteen men.

TENTH ANNUAL LAKE MERRITT MARATHON AN AMATEUR VICTORY

Record Entry List Obtained Without Sanction Fee Being Paid to Pacific Assn. of A. A. U.

With a record entry list for The TRIBUNE Tenth Annual Lake Merritt Marathon there need no longer be doubt as to the practicability of conducting amateur athletics without the sanction of the Pacific Association of the A. A. U. At the start it was as much of a gamble as it was when the Oakland baseball club decided to play all their home games at home. But like that arrangement it worked. In one instance what we needed was the support of the fans. In the case of The TRIBUNE Marathon what was needed was the support of the young amateur athletes of the Eastbay. In both instances the support was forthcoming and The TRIBUNE considered that its stand in interest of clean amateur athletics was well rewarded. It would have been considered well worth the fight had there been an entry list of but the same number that signed up in 1921, but the overwhelming support of the young runners that produced an entry list more than three times as large as last year and which broke all previous records by more than 100 entries more than proclaimed that the move was a wise one.

The Pacific Association of the A. A. U. no doubt would have been useful. It does, but that purpose does not extend to the regulation of amateur athletics in a field where there is no question as to the amateur status of those taking part. The A. A. U. has no jurisdiction. The P. A. still retains its right to regulate its own activities, but the example has been set, and successfully, to show that amateur athletics can be conducted without the necessity of being paid for the privilege of conducting them and without amateur runners being forced to pay for the privilege of participating in a race in which the taxing party has no interest whatsoever.

Preparations Made For Conduct of Race.

Lake Merritt, around which many of the best distance runners have gathered, Lake Merritt Marathon in its past years, will be the scene of the greatest of all distance races Saturday morning when close to 300 runners, the largest number who have ever been set out in a race, and one-eight mile race on the Pacific Coast, will be lined up at the Grand Avenue entrance to Lakeside Park and sent on their way by Chief of Police James Jones at 10 o'clock. There may have been longer races or races which have boasted an entry list containing a larger number of names of starters in various parts of the country, but the history of distance running so heartily endorsed any race.

Instructions Will Be Given Tomorrow.

Full instructions for runners who have sent in their entry blanks will be printed tomorrow night. The course will be mapped out, by TRIBUNE arrows so that there will be no opportunity for mistakes on the race before are familiar with the start and the first lap. All that should be watched by these is that they now turn into Lakeside Park as they formerly did on the second lap, omitting the trip around by way of Grand Avenue that formerly was made the first time around when the race consisted of two laps.

The map of the course will be printed again tomorrow so that any who are not certain as to the route will be able to follow the course. Automobiles will not be allowed to follow the runners, none but police and the official car being permitted on the course.

Automobiles Barred From Following Race.

This ruling is made not to bar any friends of the contestants from seeing the race, but to insure a fair deal to the large number of runners. With such a large field of starters it would be unsafe to allow automobiles to zigzag their way through the runners, and last year's experience showed that one or two runners were nearly run down by careless drivers who were intent on overtaking a particular runner, and ignored the fact that they were running near their machine.

Another condition that will be remedied this year will be keeping the course clear at the finish. The start will be made at the Grand Avenue entrance to Lakeside Park and the finish will be in the drive-high school experience 125 were way of the park. The crowd will be kept back from the finish by track, 87 baseball, 22 tennis, 25 swimming and 11 crew.

Meet Harv. Michel

The chances of the Oakland Y.M.C.A. Marathon team of winning team honors in the Tenth annual Marathon Saturday morning were greatly increased by the entry of HARVEY MICHEL, who formerly ran in the 1918 Marathon for Camp Fremont. Michel is a veteran distance runner and an expert swimmer.

that the contestants may have an opportunity to finish without battling through crowds of friends who crowd in to congratulate them before they have crossed the line.

BENNY VIERRA TAKES DECISION OVER JIMMY DUNDEE

FEATHERWEIGHTS STAGE GREAT BATTLE AT THE AUDITORIUM

Joe Coffey and Frankie Farren Box a Draw; Johnny Cline Defeats Joe Azevedo.

By BOB SHAND.

Benny Vierra took home the Junior Lightweight Championship of the Pacific Coast to his bride last night. Jimmy Dundee, who formerly held the title lost three out of four rounds to the very latest bridegroom and the honorable judges, Lynn Stanley and Charles Joseph could do nothing but award the fight to the boy from Lisbon. There wasn't even an argument about the justice of the verdict as Benny outsmarted Jimmy in every department. The only thing in Dundee's favor was the fact that he did all the leading. Vierra failed to lead even once and had the contest been a bit closer Dundee might have been considered for a draw on the strength of carrying the fight to his opponent in every round.

Vierra evidently entered the ring under instructions from his manager, Alister to let Dundee be the aggressor and counter as Jimmy led. That's exactly what Vierra did. The plan of battle proved most effective as the counters invariably landed and there was plenty of stinging behind them. From the outside the ring it might have appeared as though Dundee had been hurt when he reeled under short rights to the chin, but Jimmy is always of balance and it is no trick at all to knock him across the ring.

At the Vierra-Dundee fight Dundee's sweetly evident conviction "Lucky" that the left hook would not prove effective and he resorted to an attack on the chin as he came in.

Tab Vierra as the best boy of his weight on the coast and a lad who could not only win the entire featherweight field. Of course Benny has never been tested over a route, but he gives evidence of possessing the necessary stamina.

Farren and Coffey Stage Fast Battle

Frankie Farren and Joe Coffey staged another draw. It was a repetition of their last battle, with the boys tearing in hammer and tongs and delivering the best they had. Coffey started like a wild man, meeting Farren in the latter's corner and sending in a set of rights which left the referee and head referee in a state of confusion. Farren was on the defensive, but he was not out of the picture in the presence of his home folks. Rudy Knepper, a local champion, was the British star, W. B. Torrance, yesterday defeated him, three to two, to play. Victory came on the sixteenth green, the crucial point in Quimet's success of a year ago.

The boys who faced the lion was little George W. Aubach, a Boston public links player. The British lion of the links was Cyril L. H. Tooley, former champion of Great Britain.

Third of the day's star events was the victory of Bobby Jones, the youthful star from the southland, over Robert A. Gardner, Chicago, twice holder of the national championship. Their match, all even after eighteen holes, went to the sixteenth green before Bobby won. As expected, Chick Evans, seeking his third championship, put out W. C. Downes Jr., seeking his second, in a match which was a foregone conclusion. Evans won by a score of 11 to 9.

Willis L. Hunter, now of New York, but still carrying some of the prestige of his British amateur championship of last year, went away, 7 up, 6 to play, before the champion, the defeat of Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, St. Paul's hard hitter, was accomplished by the comparatively frail Billy McPhail, only a year or two ago a caddy on the golf course.

Fourth of the day's star events was the victory of George V. Rotan, Louisiana, triumphing over Texas in a conflict confined to the south, and Jesse P. Guilford's advance toward success in the championship of the Del Norte and Pebble Beach links under championship conditions. It is extremely doubtful if he will even have an opportunity of playing over the San Francisco course before returning to the coast to his business engagement keep him busy.

The failure of Francis Quimet to stop Rudy Knepper, the trans-Maryland and Iowa state champion, was an upset.

Knepper, however, outplayed the Boston star from the tee to the cup in the afternoon play. Symptom on the occasion helped him at times when Quimet was lamentably short on his putts. That, in the main, was the story of his downfall, the final result being four and two.

The only hole the Bostonian won in the afternoon round was the 14th, when Knepper failed to reach the green on his second.

MOOSE ELEVEN WINS. Vallejo, Sept. 7.—The Junior Moose football eleven defeated the Mission High team of San Francisco here on Monday by a score of 31 to 0. The visitors were outplayed at every stage of the game. The Moose expected to meet some of the best teams in the state before the year is over.

SOCCERITES ORGANIZE SIX-CLUB LEAGUE

The third meeting of the season of the Bay Cities Soccer Football league was held Tuesday evening, at which time it was definitely decided that the league would be held down to six clubs. Those admitted to membership for the coming season included the Neptune, Alameda, Sons of St. George, Rangers, Golden Gate Merchants and Foresters. The Golden Gate Merchants were formerly known as the Invincibles, under which name they played throughout the league season last year.

Sunday, October 15, was named as the opening date of the season on which three games will be played. An international elimination contest of three games was voted upon by the delegates, games between teams composed of players of American, English and Scotch birth being specified for the teams. The funds derived from this series of games will be used toward purchasing medals to go to the winners of the Bay Cities Soccer league season.

The schedule committee will meet next Monday evening, at which time the complete playing schedule for the season will be drawn up and the grounds, Washington Park-Alameda.

Federation to Have Secretary At Big Salary

WORD was received here today from the headquarters of the National Amateur Athletic Federation that Elwood S. Brown, former international secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in charge of the development of foreign athletics, had accepted the position of secretary of the National Federation.

Brown's work is well known to followers of foreign athletics, he having promoted and staged the Near East athletic games and was chiefly instrumental in promoting the international games.

It is understood that Brown's salary will be the largest ever paid for a man holding such a position.

and San Pablo playground have already been obtained and a third playing field is being sought.

Each club will have one representative on the schedule committee.

The Sons of St. George will hold their initial practice Sunday on the San Pablo grounds, while the Neptune will hold their first workout Saturday.

OLYMPIC CLUB WILL HAVE STRONG ELEVEN THROUGHOUT SEASON

Babe Hollingberry Has Lined up Collegiate Stars; Latham, Majors, Patrick to Play.

By DOUG MONTELL

With St. Mary's and California in the first stages of preparation for the coming football season the situation across the bay has somewhat fallen to the background. Inasmuch as Stanford, California, Santa Clara and St. Mary's are scheduled to meet the Olympic Club during the season the Winged "O" started activity early enough to insure making a good showing. Not that the Post Street Club does not always make a strong showing, or they have for the past several years now given California and Stanford the keenest competition of any team on the early season schedule.

To the Olympic Club falls the honor of officially ushering in the 1922 football season, the Winged "O" having their first game of the year scheduled with the team from the U. S. S. New York next Saturday afternoon, Admission Day. Fleet teams, in days gone by, failed to arouse much enthusiasm, but the team from the Pacific Fleet, eleven, dispelled all doubt that sailors can play football and the New York eleven this year has several last year's Pacific Fleet players.

line and in any case they will be on hand for reserve strength.

Back Field Secure With Bradshaw

The Olympic Club backfield will look like an all-star selection if Babe Hollingberry's plans go thru. At quarterback he will have Bradshaw, who for the past three years has been the talk of the Pacific Coast. Bradshaw put the first-year "New York" on the football map and his presence with the Olympic Club will insure the spectators of many a thrill. Bradshaw being the best broken field runner in the west. At one halfback will be Captain Al Williams, who did all his collegiate playing under the colors of Cornell. Jimmy Needles, who bore the brunt of the Olympic Club attack the best part of last season, and Dobson, who is credited with being one of the best players ever turned out of the University of Nebraska, and who is playing once more with the Olympians, will alternate at the other halfback job. Jack Patrick, last year's Stanford captain, will hold down the fullback job. Could any club eleven look to have a better aggregation of talent at the start of the season?

Schedule of O. C.

The Olympians are taking on a full ten game schedule, play of which starts Saturday at Ewing Field in San Francisco. The game Saturday is scheduled to start at 2:30.

Following is the complete Olympic Club schedule:

Sept. 9—U. S. S. New York at Ewing Field, S. F.

Sept. 17—U. S. S. Camden at Ewing Field, S. F.

Sept. 24—U. S. Marines at Ewing Field, S. F.

Sept. 30—Open date.

Oct. 7—Stanford at Palo Alto.

Oct. 14—Open date.

Oct. 21—California at Berkeley.

Oct. 28—Open date.

Nov. 5—Santa Clara at Recreation Park, S. F.

Nov. 11—Multnomah club at Pasadena.

Nov. 18—St. Mary's at Recreation Park, S. F.

Nov. 25—Multnomah club at Portland.

Tackles Look to Be Equally Strong

The tackles will be equally strong with King, star tackle of Annapolis last year, as one as a certainty and Hauser of Ohio State at the other. Ends are not settled as yet and appear to be the weakest part of the present Olympic Club line-up. Smith of the University of Iowa is counted to hold down one end, while there are several promising candidates on the squad working out every night who will undoubtedly round into form to scrap for the other berth. Several of last year's eleven will be available in case sufficient new material is not on hand to complete the line.

Highway Is Winner At Sacramento Fair

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Highway, owned and driven by H. Hogoboom, was an easy victor here yesterday in the state fair futurity trot for three-year-olds, coping first place in all three heats. At one time was the lead of the colt in danger, although Nadine A., black mare owned by M. C. Keefe, took the lead for a time in the third heat, but broke on the home stretch.

The 2:30 pace for a price of $750 was won easily by Beauty Logan, owned and driven by J. E. Montgomery.

Star Pacer Breaks Neck at Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 7.—Ravenna, owned by R. E. Herron, the favorite in the first race yesterday at the Duferin park race-track, crossed her legs, fell and broke her neck. Three other horses with their jockeys went down in the dust but none was seriously hurt. Jockey Sterling, who was riding Ravenna, had a narrow escape and was put out of action for the day.

Fort Worth Golfer Scores Hole-in-One

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 7.—W. R. Arvey of Fort Worth, who was awarded the "Hole-in-One" trophy in the Texas State tournament here this spring for turning in the highest qualifying score, joined the play of the Hole-in-One club here yesterday when in the qualifying play of the River Creek Invitational tournament here scored an ace on the 235-yard No. 17.

Some thrilling golf was witnessed at the Berkeley course when Dwight Armstrong, the Eastern amateur, at present resident here, made a brilliant exhibition of golf that made the course seem easy. This brilliant young golfer who is attending business during the week enjoys his week-end golf just the same as an ordinary player. He is one of the features of his game over the Berkeley course, which he considers the best. He has seen on the Coast. From the first he drove to the green, guarding the green a hundred yards in the care of a badly played second, the sixth, which puzzles most players, he drove twice to the back of the green, the dog leg eighth he was out with a drive and mashie, and at the ninth he used a mashie. Out in 31 with several missed putts, shows what this young Yale graduate is capable of. He is very fond of his mashie ball clubs he got from Jack Hutchison. Those who saw Armstrong driving are not surprised that even the champion Jess Guilford had to take second place to him in an Eastern State championship. At the pond hole which measures 125 yards, he drove to the right nearly 375 yards, leaving himself 125 yards to the green. At the 18th with a following wind he was on with a drive and mashie. The uphill fifteenth against the wind he almost drove to the green. The long sixteenth he negotiated with a drive and mashie. He is very fond of playing with a drive and jigger. His form is perfect and one wonders what he is capable of on the Del Norte and Pebble Beach links under championship conditions. It is extremely doubtful if he will even have an opportunity of playing over the San Francisco course before returning to the coast to his business engagement keep him busy.

GOLF FACTS worth knowing

by INNIS BROWN

Q. Is a player penalized if in taking a club from his bag, to use it in another club and it strikes and moves his ball?

A. He loses a stroke.

Q. In a single match, if my opponent strikes out of bounds from the tee, can he insist that I play my next stroke before he plays again?

A. Yes. But you are entitled to learn definitely whether or no his ball has struck out of bounds.

Q. If a player, hunting for his opponent's ball in high grass, accidentally moves it, is he penalized for interfering with the ball?

A. No. In case of this kind there is no penalty.

Q. A claims he can lift a ball anywhere on the course and tee it to the hole, if he is from within the boundary of a hole he lifted it with two strokes. B claims that a ball lifted from an unplayable lie must be played again from the approximate spot where the last stroke was played with a penalty of one stroke. Which is right?

A. Both are right and both are wrong. In medal play the ball can be lifted as A claims, or it can be taken back as B claims. In match play B's version is correct.

Q. Can a ball that stops against a post, a fence, a mark, the boundary of a hole be lifted away without penalty?

A. Not unless there is a local rule to that effect.

If any golf rules puzzle you, write Innis Brown, c/o Sporting Editor, enclosing stamped return envelope.

Eczema Relieved by Sing Herbs

Mrs. H. Doller, 1441 E. 38th St., Oakland, and Mrs. Jeannette Spears, 3518 Peralta St., Oakland, testify as to the benefits to be had from the Sing Herbs in treating eczema from which both were cured by the Sing Specialists, according to the following letter:

"For more than seven years I suffered the horrible tortures of eczema, and in spite of all that American doctors both in San Francisco and Oakland could do, I lost weight continually. I was unable to sleep at night, and the suffering I went through is beyond description. Finally my addition developed into blood-poisoning, that caused me much pain and many tears. At this time I gave my case into the hands of the Sing Herb Specialists. In five weeks a complete cure of my ailment had been effected by them, and I gained ten pounds in one month. (Signed) MRS. H. DOLLER."

"After suffering for 20 years from a vicious case of eczema, from which ordinary treatments gave me only occasional, temporary relief, I started treatment with the Sing Herb Specialists. When I went to them both my ankles were broken out and I suffered terribly. After the first treatment the itching subsided considerably and I had a comfortable night. Within a few days the terrible itching and burning was gone and in six weeks my cure was complete. (Signed) MRS. JEANNETTE SPEARS."

BRIDGE ACROSS STRAITS.

Promoters of the $2,500,000 steel bridge across Carquinez Straits have announced receipt of Government approval of their plans. Nothing remains before the order to start construction, they say, but the official approval of Contra Costa and Solano counties.

Approval by the supervisors of the two counties, in all likelihood, will be quickly given. The bridge will have a span high enough to allow the largest of vessels to pass under, it will reduce by 50 per cent the cost of crossing the straits, and it will unite at all hours of the day and by a means of rapid transportation a part of Northern California and the great Eastbay section.

The Carquinez bridge is financed. There is to be no soliciting of cities and counties to aid in its construction but, on the other hand, there will be a charge for all who use it. At the end of twenty-five years the owners are to surrender all rights in the structure to the two counties which may then take it over without a cent of cost.

Such a bridge would solve an important transportation question for Oakland and the Eastbay. It would afford direct twenty-four-hour-a-day highway between this city and the great and growing section to the north. When it is built the motorists may drive all around San Francisco Bay, using a ferry boat but once, the trip from Sausalito to San Francisco. Oakland will be given a new road to Vallejo and thousands more motorists each year will visit Solano, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties. After reasonable time to investigate thoroughly the plans and claims of the promoters the supervisors of the two counties should waste no time in arriving at their decision.

It is a good illustration of the way in which the McCormicks persist on the front page that Muriel, who seems to be the most subdued of the clan, is quoted as declaring that she will not accept the million-dollar offer to go in the films. But she first got on the front page by the statement that she had received the offer. Incidentally it is likely to be considered that her decision not to adopt the Hollywood vogue with its big cash lure entailed no painful sacrifice; for in addition to being the daughter to a millionaire she is the grand-daughter of a multi-millionaire.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

The Davis cup has been won by America for the third consecutive time and a Californian, "Bill" Johnston, played a big part in the winning. There are few events in athletics so keenly contested and so imbued with the highest ideals of sportsmanship as the Davis cup matches in tennis. It is an international contest which has become traditional and one all the more noteworthy because those who participate are amateurs.

In 1900 Dwight Davis offered the cup as a trophy and since then men have crossed the seas, from Australia to England, to battle for its possession. Broukes and Wilding, Australians, were winners at Wimbledon in 1907 and took the coveted trophy with them back to Melbourne. It may be said that their return raised the game in Australia to the dignity of an international sport and from that day Australia became America's closest contender on the courts.

The cup stayed in Australia until 1912 and three teams who journeyed there from America to fight for it, came back acknowledging defeat and praising the sportsmanship of the winners. Then England was victor and the next year the cup came to the United States. Australia was winner again in 1914. Shortly after Wilding fell at Gallipoli and for a while tennis was forgotten. After the armistice the game was resumed and it was then Tilden went to Australia and brought the cup to America. William Johnston's defeat of Captain Gerald Patterson of the Australian team this week saw all of the best traditions of sport upheld. The gallery forgot partisanship and applauded every evidence of brilliant playing. At the close the defeated Australian turned to the crowd and said:

"I want to thank you for the great spirit of sportsmanship you have shown. It has been the same everywhere in the United States that we have been. I may be criticised for saying this, but I am going to say it anyway: Americans are the greatest sportsmen in the world."

Here is a trophy greater than the Davis cup and one which belongs to the gallery as well as the players. It is a demonstration of what athletics can do toward cementing friendly international relations. In another year Australia will try again to lift the cup and if she succeeds it will be to hearty applause, a tribute to the sportsmanship of her great players.

RUSSIA'S FOOD SUPPLY.

Much as a world would like to believe that abundant harvests in Russia will mean an end to famine and hunger, the facts must be faced. Large harvest in sections of the country cannot offset the handicaps of lack of seed, machinery and draft animals.

The Moscow correspondent of the London Observer states that in the famine area the yield per acre sown will be large, but the total harvest "rather small." He reports that in Samara Province, out of 10,000,000 dessiatines (27,000,000 acres of fertile, arable land only 800,000 dessiatines have been seeded; and he gives one reason for this limited effort when he says that of 4,836,000 horses and cattle in 1910 only 624,000 are left. The Russian correspondent of La Victoire (Paris) sends an even gloomier picture, stating that "Green Bands" are appearing in some regions to defend their limited crops against requisition. A report of the Soviet Economic Planning Commission on the restoration of the famine area, just republished in England, estimates that the stricken provinces lack 715,000 plows and other implements in proportion.

Add to this is a special letter sent to the New York Times by Manya Gordon, writing from Berlin. She quotes Litvinov as doubtful whether Russia will be rendered independent by the harvest and says transportation difficulties will have to be met after the grain is reaped. Russia outside the Ukraine was cultivating last year only about 56 per cent of the farming area cultivated in 1916. While official estimates of the seed needed for the famine area are called for 66,350,000 pounds (a pound is 40 pounds), the Government collected only 19,000,000 pounds, and much even of this failed to arrive in time. She characterizes the situation as "calamitous."

American relief, it would seem, will have to be continued. In the face of conflicting reports, recent Soviet declarations that the crops will feed the hungry nation and these other disputing claims there is need of information upon which the relief agencies may act.

GOOD ROAD ESSAYS.

Within the last year attention of 250,000 high school pupils has been concentrated on the subject of good roads and how they develop the community. A four-year university scholarship, with expenses, is offered to the one whose essay on these is adjudged the best.

The quarter million manuscripts have been culled down to fifty-four and from this number the prize winner will be selected. Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture; George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and Dr. Grier Hilborn, President of Princeton University, are to be judges.

The essays which go to the judges represent each state, the District of Columbia, the Canal Zone, the Philippines, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska. To be one in the fifty-four means the writer has been considered the best in his state or district.

Results will be forthcoming from this youthful application upon the subject of good roads. Aside from the large number who participated in the contest thousands more were reached in the preliminary try-outs at which the essays were read before audiences. The California high school student who won first honors in his state and whose essay has now gone to the judges who will award the scholarship prize is Gordon A. Sutherland of San Jose.

Secretary of Labor Davis takes no unequivocal stand as to dynamiters and train wreckers. He puts it that "no gibbet can be built too high for those who execute such dastardly deeds." Entirely regardless of existing labor troubles this is a declaration that all true Americans may subscribe to. Violence of this character will settle no labor controversy in the right way. Besides, it is intolerable in a country that is free and that is looked upon by the nations of the earth to show the way.

The city of Stockton is determined to make the most of its natural advantages and to see that they are enjoyed by the greatest number. A municipal mineral bathing pool is the latest acquisition.

There is no romance between Charlie Chaplin and Peggy Joyce. Someone ought to be congratulated about this.

Chester Rowell will resign from the Railroad Commission to travel abroad. He will learn a lot more things about rates.

Whenever a nation sends out financial feelers a touch is coming.

DAILY ALMANAC

Thursday, September 7.

Queen Elizabeth of England was born in 1533. . . . In her honor we publish today (.) the Elizabethan period. . . . Dr. Samuel Johnson was born in 1709. . . . He is famous for being confused with Ben Johnson. . . . James W. Wallack made his first appearance in America in 1818.

The National Association of Piano Tuners has adopted resolutions condemning jazz. One would think jazz would be welcome noise to the piano tuner. What is there which may wreck the harmony, crack keys and jam the sharps all up with the flats any quicker than a jazz artist in full motion? The more jazz the more piano tuning, is an easy conclusion, but it does not work out that way. According to the piano tuners, and they should know, anyone who plays jazz does not care whether his piano is tuned or not.

We have always marveled at the things these associations do and plan. There is, for instance, The Society for Teachers of Dancing from which comes this announcement: "The bashful young man in quest of the fair maiden's hand is now receiving special instruction, and the exact need is satisfied in a new step announced by the Society for Teachers of Dancing." One might ask if the new dance is to be called the fatal step, or, even, hopping the question? It is a bit difficult for some of us to imagine the great need of the bashful young man for the dance step which will take his lady friend to the window of his lady fair. We do not believe bashful young men think anything about dancing while they are seeking to frame a proposal for marriage.

Often, however, they do execute a few shuffling back-and-forth steps, but this is an involuntary dance and they give it no attention. The picture these teachers present is of the b. y. m. stepping nimble paces while he proposes. One can even hear him murmur: "One, two—One, two, three. . . Say, kid, will you marry me?" Maybe he slaps his knees, pats his palms, rolls his eyes and chants with irresistible melody: Lady, lady, turkey-foot. All the way to the altar—what?

More likely we are way off the track. The dance is to be a symbolic one. The youth will execute it solo and the maiden, being versed on interpretive dances, will understand what he means. Enter bashful young man waving trail of pipe-smoke for his shield. He steps warily and carefree, denoting bachelor state. In increasing menace in the rumble music from orchestra. Bashful young man places pipe on floor and gambols about it vigorously. He starts toward young maiden, hesitates, then starts toward pipe. Beautiful indecision. Moment of suspense. Crash of jubilant music. The b. y. m. kicks pipe out of window, noting where it lands, and rushes impudently to girl. Music plays with Cupidity and Lohengrin. If girl accepts young man she signifies it by kicking off his hat and parents come from behind curtain to offer congratulations.

This All Helps. Sir: As a co-conspirator in perpetrating the Welcome to Oakland song, may I ask that you try to sing your version—"one person out of every six owns his own home" as against "one person out of every six own their own home." Would also call your attention to the fact that this song is notable for its lack of undertone to rhyme. "June" with "Moon" or "her eyes were blue" with "be true to you" and the fact that a rhetorical sharp could only find one grammatical error in the lyric, in our opinion, places us considerably above Irving Berlin and Harry Von Tilzer and the other boys who have found that the easiest way to write music is to invent a syntax of their own.

W. W. CURTIS. Curtis has taken a reasonable position. Had we been in his shoes we would have said something like this: "You are a fine one to talk. Didn't the Almanac the other night say something about 'the b. y. m.'? And we would have held our tongue and hung our head, for that is what she said."

The Last Chance. His name is Johnny Heinhold. And by the Oakland Slough Was moored his place, the Last Chance. As every sailor knew.

Yes, every seaman knew the place; Despite the times he'd swear To save his pay from a two-year's voyage. He'd always spend it there.

When London's of the Realm Dazzle, 'Twas London's stamping-ground; He made it his first port of call After tying up at the town.

The place, they say, still stands there at The approach to the Webster Street draw; There many a bayman warned his throat.

'Tis years since Johnny had the place; To old-timers on the bay, It doesn't seem the same as it did In Johnny Heinhold's day.

Santa Rosa. We Know Oakland Mole. "Oakland Gofers in Lead," says a headline. Perhaps what is meant is the golfer who digs up the turf.

"I dare not go into the woods," Said Ida Mae McGler; "A hunter'd surely shoot me down, They all know I'm a deer."

San Francisco has a cook named Thomas Economy.

You noticed, did you not, a man named John Uells is held as one of those responsible for a train wreck?

NOTES and COMMENT

Boston Transcript: "How little the busy world of action, the world whose 'news' is dynamic and clangorous, knows of or cares for the thinking world, the aesthetic world, we instance by the fact that the death of W. M. Hudson, author of 'The Purple Land,' 'The Crystal Age' and 'Far Away and Long Ago,' on August 18, was not noted in the cable despatches. Mr. Hudson is unknown to the noisy world of action, but he will be forgotten in English literature—unforgotten by reason not only of the intrinsic charm of all his nature writings, but also of the real significance of his social observations, which were unrivaled in directness and penetration."

Washington Post: "A symposium of medical opinion on the question of what kind of a breakfast is best for brain workers and those engaged in sedentary occupations is arousing widespread comment in the press of the country—serious, semi-serious and facetious. There were responses to the question from 46 States, the overwhelming preponderance of advice being in favor of a hearty meal at the beginning of the day, thereby rather upsetting a long-held lay view, tradition or popular theory in the matter. Seventy-three per cent of the doctors answering the query declare for the hearty meal, as against 13 per cent for a light repast, with the other 14 per cent 'playing safe.'"

On the authority of the Bakersfield Californian: "A man in Berlin, who was badly smashed in an accident a few years ago, was equipped with ribs made of gold and platinum. With these two metals at their present high value in Germany this man's life is regarded as being in danger from criminals and special measures are taken to guard him. In view of this case, it appears that if gold continues to soar in value over there, persons with their teeth filled with yellow metal will have to hire bodyguards."

Chicago Tribune: "It might occur to a citizen of Illinois that it is that the prosecution of murderers involved in the massacre at Herrin is dependent upon contributions of money from individuals. In a political feud between the Governor of the State and the attorney-general the governor had the last word, and his veto of appropriation for the administration of justice now compels citizens to raise funds for the handling of the worst outrage against civilization this State has known in a generation."

New York Tribune: "The theory on which the bonus bill was passed by the House of Representatives was that there were votes in it. Representatives counted on it to help them win re-election in the primaries. So did Senators. But the primaries exploded that theory. Conspicuous bonus advocates like Mr. McCumber were defeated. Conspicuous bonus opponents like Senator Pepper beat a strong pro-bonus rival—Representative Burke."

Chicago News: "We continue to be reminded that there are still earthly paradises. Captain Olsen of the American schooner Henriette reports being wrecked on the little atoll of Tagawa, where the women outnumber the men fourteen to one, where 30 cents lasts a month, where the inhabitants are all Christians leading upright lives and where at a church social given in the visitor's honor the young ladies of the Epworth League danced the hula hula in grass skirts, accompanied by an upright piano."

The chain gang is one of the unpopular institutions of this city. It is unpopular with those who are too lazy to work, too shiftless to do otherwise than seek free board and lodging inside the various city and county jails where there is no chain gang. There will be fewer holdups and the city will be a safer place by night after the chain gang has been in operation for a few more months.—Marysville Appeal.

That Lompoc's fame as a producer of flower seed is growing was evidenced at a recent flower show of the National Sweetpea Society of Great Britain, in which 108 new varieties of sweetpeas appeared. The President Harding, a new variety produced here, took first place on all four of the points required: Color, size of the flower, number of blossoms on each stem and sturdiness of growth.—Lompoc Review.

The House of Mourning would be a better name right now for the State Capitol.—Sacramento Bee.

MOTHER AND THE STYLES.

Dresses high and dresses low, Fashion bids them come and go; Tresses bobbed and tresses long, Fashion sways the moving throng; What was new becomes the old, Thus this changing life is told.

First we view it with a smile, Then adopt the latest style— But with all the passing days, Mothers never change their ways.

Gay of heart and bright of face, Fashion seems to rule the place. With the swinging of the clock Youth gives away another shock, Planting into public view Something Age would never do, Laughing at us when we preach, Scornful of us when we teach— But with all of fashion's wiles, Mothers never change their styles.

Motherhood's no fickle thing, To be changed each fall and spring; As it was so it remains, Spite of all its cares and pains.

Joy may call and pleasure lure But a mother's love is pure, And the baby sinks to rest in the pillow on her lovely breast, Closing little drowsy eyes To the softest lullabies.

Mothers worry night and day When their children are away; Mothers grieve when they are ill, Always have and always will. They would shield you with their care Every day and every where, And they're happy through and through To the ending of their days. Mothers never change their ways. (Copyright, 1922, Edgar A. TESTING WITH A PIANO.

A piano seems to be out of place in a locomotive workshop, yet it has been found to play a very useful part. There is no better way of discovering cracks and defects in the different parts of the machinery than by striking the metal with a hammer and then comparing the noise of the vibrations with the piano notes. The man operating the piano must have a trained ear for making sense of it. It is his business to listen for the slightest discords. If the metal rings harmoniously with the piano note all is well; the least flaw will result in a discord. Defects that are hardly to be noticed by the ordinary method of hammering are at once evident when the piano test is employed. A locomotive that rings true all over, each note which it yields synchronizing properly with the same note as given by the piano, is certainly fit to take its place in service on the railway.—Scientific American.

SABBATH CALM PRESERVED.

An American lady who visited Scotland not long ago relates that on returning from Kirkcaldy one Sunday morning she found that her landlady had closed her windows. When she spoke of the discomfort of it, her landlady said firmly, "Your room will not get stuffy in one day. 'Twas never our custom, miss, to have fresh air roosting about the house on the Sabbath."

The Reason. (In reply to kind inquiries)—I'm crying 'cos I got dust on my new trousers. Inquirer—But you needn't cry now. They look quite clean. "Yes, but mother wouldn't let me take 'em out while she dusted them."—London Mail.

About YOUR HEALTH

How You Can Avoid Nervous Prostration Dangers Don't mope!

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. Commissioner of Health, New York City.

You will never get anywhere if you pout and whine and fuss and groan.

"When you find yourself in a frame of mind like this, look yourself over to see what is the matter. There is usually a physical basis for such symptoms. The mind and nervous system react to the state of the body."

One of the trying and difficult conditions in this category is neurasthenia, or "nervous prostration," as it is called by a good many.

City life predisposes to neurasthenia. The noises, bright lights, late hours, late suppers, rich food, loss of sleep, the hurry and bustle—indeed, all the natural accompaniments of city life—combine to exhaust the nervous forces and vitality.

Certain races are peculiarly liable to this trouble, while others are almost immune. Some families, too, are more liable than others. The better the youthful training, the more thorough the early discipline of mind, and the more nearly correct the manner of living, the more favorable is the chance of escaping nervous prostration and other ailments of the nervous system and brain.

Parents should bear in mind the importance of youthful training. It is no kindness to a child to give in to his whims. His wrong impulses should be curbed in a kindly but firm manner. The time will come when he will thank you for the lessons in self-control, which at the moment seemed most irritating.

Night-workers, no matter how easily they appear to carry their duties, never seem to get the same amount or quality of rest and refreshment day-workers enjoy. They are particularly liable to nervous breakdowns.

Easily acquired fatigue, and a constant "tired feeling" are early symptoms of nervous exhaustion. Then when you are all tired out and seem to need an unusual amount of rest, sleep just won't come. Insomnia—inability to sleep—is another sign of neurasthenia.

Another prominent symptom is fear. Fear of death, fear of being indoors, fear of crowds—any form of fear is characteristic of this ailment.

There are all sorts of abnormal sensations. One of these may be a feeling as if there were a weight on top of the head. It may be a sensation of a tight band around the head, or a pain in the back of the head or between the shoulders.

There may be perversions of smell or taste, as if there were a bad odor in the air or a bitter substance in the mouth. In short, neurasthenia causes all sorts of disagreeable disturbances. The best way to deal with this trouble is to live such a life that you never have it!

When once it comes, there must be a return to normal and sensible ways of living. With improved physical health the mental and nervous symptoms will disappear.

Placing a Sneeze. Mr. Linkins, the junior member of the firm, had a peculiarly irritating sneeze. It began with an elaborate and terrifying series of facial convulsions, and ended with a most lame and impotent paroxysm that always disappointed the spectators. "The performance never comes up to the advance notices."—Philadelphia Ledger.

COED WORKS AS PATH TO FICTION FAME

Merry Hunter of "Occident"
Staff Will Take Job
As New York Salesgirl to Study Real Life

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—First a stenographer, then a salesgirl—and all to gain "local color" for stories which she will write.

Such is the way which Miss Merry Hunter, graduate of the University of California with this year's class, is using to obtain a background for a literary career upon which she has set out.

Miss Hunter in order to see just what treatment a working girl gets, entered her father's office in Sacramento as a stenographer following her graduation. She refused to be considered in any other light than merely an employee of her father. Now that she has discovered what work in an office is like she is preparing to leave for New York for new experiences.

In the eastern metropolis she plans to enter a department store and study life from within the portals of a center of business, rather than glean her information from without.

In college Miss Hunter was assistant editor of "Occident," literary monthly of the campus, and a leader in literary circles. She believes in the "new woman" freed from shackles of tradition and was one of the first co-eds on the campus to have her hair bobbed.

Chinatown Is Too Slow for These Cowboys

ALAMEDA, Sept. 7.—The Wild West has invaded China. So deeply has the Oriental become affected by frontier influences that yesterday morning Lee Quong, T. Chin Win, Chin Kim Low and Paul Leon headed eastward from San Francisco for the cattle ranges of the Great Plains to become cowboys. They got as far as Neptune beach when they were arrested by Policemen Richard Britt, last night. The ages of the daring band of adventurers ranged from 10 to 12 years.

When the dauntless band, under the leadership of Chin Win, left San Francisco Chinatown yesterday morning their departure was announced to the police by harried parents. A bay-window was sent out but so well did the leader cover the tracks of his gang that they escaped detection until last night. Chin Win's father was notified and he came across the bay and led the gang back to the drum existence of school and study in San Francisco's prosaic Chinatown.

Mills Physician Talks to Freshmen

Dr. Lucile Williamson, resident physician at Mills College, will be the speaker before the freshman assembly tomorrow morning. Students were urged by Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Potter, librarian, yesterday, to familiarize themselves with the scores of first editions which the college library contains of such writers as Charles Dickens, Robert Browning and others and to study the autographed letters found in the many rare editions. She outlined the system in vogue in the library.

Rev. Robert Leavens of Berkeley will be the speaker at the 7 o'clock vesper service on Sunday evening.

ONE AUTO EACH NINE.
ALAMEDA, Sept. 7.—Alameda has one automobile to every nine persons living in the city, according to figures yesterday issued by City Assessor Fred J. Croil. Commercial and pleasure cars totaled 2,135, with an assessed valuation of $1,001,350. The auto owners paid taxes totaling $19,500 this year.

Joke Leads to Romance; Vacation Aids Betrothal

MISS GEORGIE QUINN of Piedmont, whose engagement to Inspector L. F. Agnew of the Oakland police department was announced today.

Piedmont Girl and Oakland Police Inspector Engaged Following Prank

Announcement was made today of the engagement of Miss Georgie Quinn, of Piedmont, to Inspector L. F. Agnew, of the Oakland police department. The announcement was made at a tea given by Mrs. Catherine Quinn, mother of the bride-to-be, in the family home, 100 Greenbank avenue.

Miss Quinn is a private secretary in a bond and brokerage firm in San Francisco. She has been with the firm for the past 14 years.

Inspector Agnew and Miss Quinn met on July 6 of this year while on their respective vacations at Seigler Springs. Miss Quinn, who is an expert swimmer, played a joke on the inspector by pretending that she was drowning in the shallow water of the lake at that resort. Agnew cannot swim, but he rushed to the assistance of Miss Quinn, who swam away as he approached, while other guests laughed at the inspector's expense.

A romance grew out of the incident, which resulted in today's announcement.

Agnew has been in the local police department for many years. At one time he was acting captain of inspectors.

FIREMEN OF HAYWARD TO GIVE UP JOB?

City Attorney Holds They Have Right to Quit; Chief
Says He Will Not Permit
It: Trouble Over Pay

HAYWARD, Sept. 7.—The right of the twenty-five members of Hayward's volunteer fire department to resign in a body, as the result of the refusal of the city council to raise the pay of one of the members, was today asserted by City Attorney C. W. White.

It was denied, however, by Fire Chief M. J. Luga, who said that he would not permit any of the members to leave their posts in the circumstances.

The question was raised when the members of the department voiced a protest against the city council's refusal to grant Anthony August, night driver, a raise of pay of $12 a month. August is now receiving $48 a month.

John Carr, who is in charge of the fire apparatus during the day time, has been summoned back from Sacramento, where he was on his vacation. It was reported today.

Woman's Right To Talk Urged By Dr. Barrows

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—Woman's right to talk as much as she wants was defended yesterday by President David P. Barrows of the university in a formal greeting to new first-year women on the campus.

Dr. Barrows declared that his experiences as an educator in the Philippines convinced him of the value of woman's talk. There, he said, he found the men dumb. The only true information he said he could get on conditions in the country came from women.

"Women always talk things over and reach decisions that are worth while," he told the new students. College life Dr. Barrows classified as a "great education for men and women."

Miss Lucy Stebbins, dean of women, declared that standards in scholarship and behavior set by women of the university would be followed by the men and urged that these standards be high.

Boy Feared Dying From Bullet Wound

ALAMEDA, Sept. 7.—Bernard, a young boy, was shot while playing in the barn at his home, 2521 Bay Island avenue, yesterday afternoon, with Guido Barbuti of 2516 Calhoun street.

The youngsters knocked over a 22-caliber rifle which was leaning against a workbench. The gun was discharged and the bullet entered the boy's stomach. His companions ran screaming to the house. The ambulance was called and the injured boy was rushed to the hospital, where an operation was performed by Dr. M. L. Brown in an effort to save his life. Small hope is held for the lad's recovery.

Autoists Pay Heavy Penalty For Violations

BERKELEY, Sept. 7.—"Drivers of automobiles never are reckless, in their own opinion. They all take a chance and assume that each will be the lucky one to get by without an accident."

Thus commented Judge Harry Pulcifer of Oakland yesterday, sitting in the Berkeley justice court for Judge Robert Edgar, who is on his vacation. Five speeders came before Judge Pulcifer. Four of them were sentenced to keep out of automobiles for from two to three months. The fifth entered a plea of not guilty and his case was set for trial.

R. S. Currens, business man of Petaluma, made the plea that he was a stranger in the bay section and didn't know the traffic laws. He was subjected to a severe arraignment by Judge Pulcifer.

"You are a business man and a person of intelligence," remarked the judge. "If persons of intelligence cannot uphold laws how can you expect those of lesser intelligence to obey them?"

Currens was ordered to turn in his operator's license and to stay out of an automobile either as a driver or a passenger until Nov. 15.

"I expect that you are one of those individuals who think laws were made for everybody else but themselves," said Judge Pulcifer to H. F. Wood, Vernon hotel, Oakland, charged by Officer Walter Gordon with traveling at 65 miles an hour along San Pablo avenue.

Wood admitted going between 30 and 40 miles per hour but said he was sure he wasn't going faster.

"You'll walk until December 15," the judge ordered. "If you're caught in an automobile before that time you'll go to jail."

William E. Cummings, bakery salesman of 5247 Lawton Ave., Oakland, arrested by Patrolman W. F. Dean for speeding on Grove street, was ordered to surrender his operator's license until November 15, while T. J. A. Johnson, 352 Vernon street, Oakland, will be forced to walk until December 6. Dr. E. C. Anderson, 1345 Blake street, charged with exceeding the speed limit on Shattuck avenue, entered a plea of not guilty and his case was set for trial next Thursday.

Conference Held On Better Business

To effect an agreement for the standardization of the work of the Pacific Coast Better Business Bureaus, a conference was held today at the Hotel Oakland of delegates of the Better Business Bureaus of Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Subjects of a technical nature are being discussed informally by the managers and attorneys of these different bureaus. Arthur M. Lyons, president of the Los Angeles Advertising Club acting as chairman. The conference was opened by C. H. Chase, manager of the Oakland Better Business Bureau.

Some eighteen delegates are in attendance, and are studying the methods of each other's bureaus.

FERRY CHIEF DISCIPLINED FOR TRAGEDY

Master of Steamer Held Responsible For Mistake in Signals, Costing Life of Woman; Other Mishaps

The license of Captain Haldor Smith, master of the steamer City of Seattle, has been suspended for six months by United States Inspectors Dolan and Turner. Captain Smith had charge of the vessel on August 20 when Mrs. C. D. Whiting of Indianola, Mo., wife of the chief deputy sheriff of Jackson county, was drowned. Mrs. Whiting and a party of friends and relatives were attempting to board the vessel in an automobile when the accident occurred.

The machine plunged into the waters of Carquinez straits as the ferry steamer was leaving the slip. The accident was said at the time to have been due to a misunderstanding of signals.

It was stated today by the inspectors that Captain Smith gave the wrong signal to the engineer, causing the steamer to leave the dock before the automobile could get aboard. The steamer is owned by the Martinez-Espanola Ferry Company.

The inspectors also suspended the license of Captain Fred E. Wyman for 60 days. He was master of the automobile ferry steamer San Jose, and on August 29 while at Vallejo, Mario Mazzera and his bride were nearly drowned when their automobile slipped off the deck of the ferry steamer, according to a report made of the accident.

In the accident at Martinez which resulted in the drowning of Mrs. Whiting, three other occupants of the machine also had narrow escapes from death. They were Mrs. E. F. Jones of Reno, C. D. Whiting and E. F. Jones, a brother of Mrs. Whiting and superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Nevada.

Garbage Dump Fire Wipes Out Whole Colony of Rats

An entire West Oakland colony of rats, numbering somewhere between 200 and 15,000,000, according to various versions, was wiped out in the fire at the garbage dump yesterday afternoon and health department authorities assert that the "rat problem" partially solved itself by the fire. The garbage-dump fire brought out a surprising company of rats which, with their families and household goods, started moving to new locations.

John Higgins, a fireman attached to the supply wagon, was attacked by a frantic rat trying to escape through the cordon of hoses, but Higgins killed the rodent after a battle.

BOWMAN Quality DRUG STORES

This is the emblem of an organization of business men who believe in advertising nothing but the truth.

Through this organization laws have been passed and are now being enforced making it a crime for anyone to publish untruthful advertising statements. Thus the merchant with a conscience is protected against unscrupulous competition.

That the 6 stores of the Bowman Drug Co. believe in truthful advertising is evident. No other kind pays, no other kind has ever been tolerated, or even considered by this firm.

It is necessary, however, for the strong to protect the weak, hence our membership in this splendid uplifting organization for the promotion of Better Business.

Clothes for a Girl

TODAY'S SHORT STORY
by
Ad Schuster

FROM the first day she stepped down a flower-bordered path to make her way to kindergarten Elsie Blewer was the best dressed girl in town. Some there were, of course who disputed the description, but even they would admit she was the most elaborately dressed. Elsie's likelihood was one of ribbons and lace, she was an object for admiration and envy.

"What Mamie Blewer is thinking of dressing that child like that is more than I can imagine," Mr. Farwell, the principal, remarked more than once. "It isn't as if she took too good care of herself, but nothing is too fine for Elsie. In my opinion she is spoiling the girl."

Elsie's mother was a pale woman, old before her time. No one would dispute the fact she worked early and late in her little home and vegetable garden and there were no grounds to accuse her, except for the matter of Elsie's clothes, of extravagance. It was agreed that a desire that her child should be as well dressed as the others had been magnified until the sense of proportion had been lost. Elsie went her radiant way. She was 20 when Farwell Mason met her. It is to the credit of this quiet and discerning young man that he saw the real woman in the over-dressed girl. Within a week he was too much in love to offer advice, but Elsie, living at last in a world outside herself, was quick to receive suggestions. She developed taste and was encouraged when her attempts at simpler raiment met his approval. It was Mamie Blewer who was slow to understand.

By the time the engagement was announced Farwell had won the mother's heart as well as that of the daughter. A silent and devoted woman, given to day dreams and hard work, Mamie Blewer, until this young man came, had never interested any one to the point of mutual understanding. She thought it strange, at first, that a girl who was engaged should give up her finery. Then she reasoned it out.

MORE than 40 years ago, near a small town in Kansas, Adrian Dunbar worked a small farm on shares. If he had owned it all himself, he used to say, he might have made a good living. As it was, life was mostly borrowing from the bank and paying it back when the crops were harvested. One had to scrape along to live, and his wife and daughter had to help. Mrs. Dunbar's part of the family work was that of many a farmer's wife. In addition to the tasks of the house, she took care of the chickens, marketed the eggs, made butter and helped in the vegetable patch. That vegetable patch was the bugbear of the little daughter's life. When school was out she hastened home to pull weeds and most of her Saturdays, in season, were spent bending over in the hot sun picking peas or beans or in other ways harvesting or cultivating this crop.

"It's a woman's work," said Adrian, and the women made it pay.

The little girl used to watch the others go by to Sunday schools, their starched dresses switching saucily. In her room she cut pretty dresses out of papers, catalogues and the few magazines she could find. She longed for a pink hair ribbon with a great and secret yearning no one could understand.

The hair ribbons and the pretty dresses never came to the girl in her married life she worked, as did her mother, on a farm. A widow with a few thousand dollars from the sale of the farm, she moved away to a small town and planned the future of her daughter.

"Do you understand, Farwell," said Mamie Blewer after she had surprised herself by pouring out her story to the young man, "do you understand why it was I wanted Elsie to have nice clothes? Maybe all the time I was selfish and was just dressing another little girl, a little girl who didn't have good clothes to go to Sunday school."

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE GOLD TEETH ARE SOLD BY PEDDLERS ON STREET CORNERS.

Far off in western China, near the border of Tibet, is a small city called Chungking. Situated at the junction of the Yangtze river and the Yangtze river, this city is built on a solid rock, covering an area of one square mile only. In this small space are packed six hundred thousand human beings. Drainage is impossible on account of the rock and as a result, Chungking is the filthiest place one can imagine. How the inhabitants can live is almost beyond the comprehension of a foreigner, who cannot hurry enough to get out of the turmoil of sound and the offensive odors which are characteristic of this human ant-hill.

It is a good thing that in the miserable poverty which naturally exists there, as in China in general, and the unwholesomeness of the place, the traveler can find something to laugh about. And he surely can do this if he has the slightest sense of humor.

It is a common sight to see a vendor walking along the street with a tray fastened around his neck. On this tray is a large assortment of gold teeth.

A wag once said:

"How much a gold tooth does to brighten an otherwise plain countenance?"

This is certainly the belief in Chungking, for false teeth are very fashionable, and the vendors do a rushing business.

A prospective buyer, who has ambitions to improve his personal appearance, is an amusing sight in the streets of Chungking. Right out in the broad daylight he will select a shining gold tooth and fit it over one of his own good teeth carefully. He will then look at himself critically in the mirror furnished by the tooth peddler, and they will both examine it as to the fit. Then, if it is satisfactory, they will throw it back in the pile and try another until one

We Us & Co.

When first we launched—
Our little company—
You and I—
Just thirty years ago—
We were not listed in Bradstreet's—
Our entire capital consisted of—
Youth—entire faith in each other—and love—
I being the senior member of the firm—
Named myself president, treasurer and general manager—
You kept the books—
And the day after every pay-day—
Your books balanced perfectly—
There was nothing left—
But—youth—love and happiness—
And we laughed in the face of the world—
And the happy days pushed by—
'Tis true the dreams of our courtship days—
Had not all come true—
But youthful dreams are such fairy-like things—
And seldom come true—
Then after a time there was a change in the firm—
The "Co." arrived—
And company always costs money—
And we didn't have it—
But somehow—how I dread to think of those days—
Somehow—We Us & Co.—made the grade—
And the new member of our firm—
Soon became manager—
You became treasurer—
And I—silent partner—
Then a great financial panic—
Boomed across the land—
Crushing the hopes of millions—
And misfortune came to our humble cot—
And sickness, too—
And we went about with hushed lips—
Afraid to look in each other's eyes—
For fear the awful doubt that was in them—
Might be imparted—
And in those dark and bitter days—
I learned to know—
The lion's heart—
That lies in every mother's breast—
For though strong man may droop and whimper—
A woman's heart will not say die—
And just because you clung so close—
To ebbing life—he lived—
And once again the roses came into your cheeks—
And happiness into your life—
Then clouds rolled by—as all clouds do—
And from out the fearful test—
We rose the stronger—
So if you are on shopping bent—
Come to our store—
We deal in hope and faith and cheer—
You'll see the sign right on the door—

THE BACKWOODSMAN.

Edward Sills sat thinking, in his lonely cabin, of his wife and little ones far away in Tennessee. Ed was a scout for General Sears. As he sat there thinking he said to himself, "First the Indians, then the Mexicans," for he wanted to be home with his family.

As he sat thinking he heard the approaching footsteps of horses. He picked up his half-coated Winchester and opened the door. Three men were coming toward the cabin at a brisk trot. Ed recognized them to be Daniel Greene and Cliff Murdock. Sills walked out to meet them. He saw they both looked sullen and tired. They stopped their horses and dismounted.

Dan Greene spoke first. "Bad news, Sills," and he shook his head.

"What now?" asked Sills.

"Well," Greene began, "you know that guy Field, that scouted over Death Gulch, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Well he quit us we supposed, but that kid Phillips took his cabin and sat up at night without a light and saw a sight."

Then the youth with them spoke for himself. "Yes, I sat up at the window and I heard the brush cracking and I looked out the other window and I see two men coming towards the cabin and I was inside the closet and loads Old Betsy (Betsy was his wife) and I wait for about ten minutes and in comes Field who thought the cabin was empty."

"He looks amply and investigated everything but the closet. Then he whistles softly and a Mexican comes in and they discuss things and the Mexican tells him his plans. Then they both go off together."

"So then I'm needed," said Sills.

"Yes," spoke up Murdock. "You are and you are needed right now." Then he turned and went to the meat and rode away with the other men. When they reached the camp General Sears announced that Murray would come tomorrow. That night where Sills was rolled up in his blanket he kept thinking of Field. When the next day General Murray had arrived

A dust was seen in the distance and every man grabbed his gun. A large army of Mexicans under General Orea was dashing toward the camp. The Americans fired and ten Mexicans fell. The rest were driven back into the Death Gulch where all of them were smothered by the poisonous vapors there.

The Americans captured the horses and ammunition and moved back to Tennessee. The Mexican war was over Sills went back home to his wife and children. "Even if Field did turn traitor to his country the Americans won the battle," said Sills.

There were 315 Americans and 330 Mexicans, but the Americans won.

JACQUES' ADVENTURE.

Once when the French were driven from their homes by the Germans, a French boy named Jacques, who was an orphan, was looking for shelter among the ruins. At night he found a little house in the woods near the village. It was a queer little house, and the nearest one to it was about a half a mile away.

He walked in, found that it was deserted. He then found a dry piece of bread. This he devoured, and then he laid down to sleep. After four hours had passed he heard a noise, then he saw a German coming through the door. Jacques picked up an old vase and hit the German over the head. The German fell to the floor senseless. Jacques ran out the door and found four Germans around him. He knocked them down, all but the fourth one who was too strong for Jacques, and the German took him a prisoner. He took him to an old house and kept him prisoner there. When the German was walking up the stairs they came in and Jacques and the German went down with it. The German was killed, but Jacques was hurt very badly. He lay there very long, until the French regained their lands from the Germans. Jacques later went to America and became a very great artist.

After he married a young girl, and lived happy until after he was killed fighting against the Germans again.

months. Usual sort of modern marriage—both working. Ethel had that good position with The Times at $125. It seemed foolish to give it up. Moreover, she wanted a brick fireplace, and a sun porch, and a few other luxuries which Jim's salary couldn't possibly provide at present. So she kept the job and she has been saving whatever was left from the $125 after her clothes and matinee tickets have been provided.

LADIES' AND MISSES' HOUSE DRESS OR APRON.
(No. 1454)

Since home dressmaking has become so simple and far more attractive of late years, the discerning woman will take advantage of these possibilities, and immediately set about making her own clothes; at least some of them. The attractive dress shown is cut in one-piece from neck to hem and a few yards of binding make it a finished product. Almost any woman who has little or no experience with the needle could make this garment in a day at a cost of about 50 cents figuring on percale at 14 cents per yard with a piece of binding at 20 cents the piece.

The pattern No. 1454 is cut in sizes 16 years, 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 3/4 yards of 36-inch material with 5 1/4 yards of binding. Price 15 cents, stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Some love is so all-fired "free" that the government ought to put a bounty on its scalp. Of such is the following. The writer says: "If you knew these things positively to be true, would you question her actions and companions?" Would I question? Not I. I'd know without questioning. If I were you, G. C., I'd drop my lady friend as if she were a rattlesnake in fact, but sooner.

Dear Geraldine:

I have written before and received your kind advice and found it a great help to me. Now I am coming for your opinion on the following:

Is it right and proper for a girl (I mean one of good character and reputation or not) just any girl, to stay away from home all night and make no explanation?

No, she is the confidential part. This girl in particular had a man phone her and she asked him where she could see him. He said to come to his room. She is a professed Christian and goes with men of questionable character and others who are shaming her.

She at one time took a man in her home, who proved to be a villain in every sense of the word. She knew he had a bad reputation, as it was published in the papers. Yet she thought she could help him. She claimed he denied his record and so she lived with him. She is a woman, not a school girl.

Then after this experience she picked up with a married man, who said his wife had left him. She was told different, and would not quit. She was followed by the wife and the wife says they were intimate. I think the man was wrong and told his wife everything. For she described her actions too minutely. I asked her to go with me to the wife and make her denial, but she said "I wouldn't bother."

The woman is, well, crazy to marry. She goes out Sundays and leads me to think that she is at church or did until recently. I found out different.

I want your candid opinion on this to see if I am alone in my views.

If you knew these things positively to be true, would you question her actions and companions, and would you say any girl could go to a hotel and stay all night or away from home, and still not have her reputation questioned? If it is proper and unquestionable, what about a Christian girl (or professed), who denounces these and smaller things in others?

Do you believe one can love and kiss promiscuously and not fall into temptation?

I have high ideals for girlhood and womanhood. Perhaps they are too high. I know it is possible to love one deeply and sincerely enough to want to gratify your every wish and yet through your personal desire to do so, in your column I can still say I am true to my childhood ideals and faith.

My Marriage Problems
Cable Garrison's
New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE STORY OF SMITH'S PLANS THAT LILLIAN TOLD MADGE.

Before I had finished my recital to Lillian of Robert Savarin's speech and demeanor, I wished myself well quit of the task.

Close, intimate friends as Lillian and I are, there is always something about her which forbids any reference to her own heart problems unless she herself first speaks of them. And as she listened in a silence that to my imagination appeared unnecessarily forbidding, I wondered if she did not consider my comment an intrusion.

Something of this I tried to express to her stammeringly when I had ended my halting recital. "Forgive me, dear," I felt that my face was flaming—"for repeating this to you, but I felt somehow that you ought to know before you talked to him."

She smiled at me tenderly, but with something in her face sadder than tears.

"Gratitude, not forgiveness, dear girl," she said, "but this is nothing new. I have known Robert's attitude, his jealousy for some time. It is only one more complication—that is all. Thank you for telling me this particular thing, however. It will help to know it beforehand. And now, while we have the chance, I want to tell you as much as I may, of what I have learned this morning."

The door of that inner room inside whose rigid walls Lillian keeps the emotional part of herself locked most of the time, swung to again, and its lock clicked audibly in my ears. For an instant I had seen within, had caught a glimpse of this "complication"—she had named it—which was marring her autumnal love life! I had counted Robert Savarin the gentlest, the most devoted, self-sacrificing of men. It shocked and disappointed me to find that he could be as petty jealous as Dickie, as tyrannical in his attitude toward her work as Harry Underwood had been in his insistence upon her going to the country.

THE LAST DETAILS

My heart ached for my friend, but I knew the only kindness I could do her was to ignore that locked door as she was doing. I therefore I dropped into a chair and asked the question which neither Dickie nor I had ventured to broach in our knowledge that if she thought best she would give us whatever news she had in good season. But she herself had said that she was ready to talk, and I knew no quicker means of shelving the abashed subject of Robert Savarin.

"Have you caught the man Smith?"

"No, they haven't yet," she said slowly, and her annunciation of the fact was significant to me of the long relentless arm of the government service. "But he has been effectually cleared out of this section, his power and influence reduced to zero, and his property placed under surveillance, so that if he comes back to it he will be apprehended. There is no other place where he possibly can be in any degree as dangerous as he was up here, and he ultimately will be captured, of course, if he doesn't get out of the country."

She paused and looked at me steadily, as if she were debating on how much to tell me.

"You might as well know what it was he was trying to do," she said, "there are threats in the air, which I must still keep in my own hands, so don't ask me any questions—you are always such a dear about that, anyway, Madge! But I shudder to think how near you were to death last night. He was completing his long-conceived plan to blow up the reservoir and put New York's water supply out of business. He had enough high-powered explosives hidden in the Catskill mountains in a valley, and he was busy at some of the last details when young Crowley came upon him."

A SINISTER BACKGROUND.

"The trooper was able to ruin enough of the delicate mechanism Smith was handling," Lillian went on before my gasp had died. "So that his purpose was frustrated before he struck Crowley that awful blow. He was evidently sure that Crowley was nearly dead and would never regain consciousness. So your sudden sitting up must have effectually startled him. He had arranged such an effective alibi, however, that he did not stop to silence you as a less single-minded criminal might have done. He was anxious to get back to the inn, and exhibit himself, so that later he might get back to the reservoir."

She paused while I tried to digest the startling information she had given me.

"Of course, he's a monomaniac," she said, "but while this was his own particular scheme, and we were sure he played a lone hand in it, yet his motive and his peculiar talents and his history of this country, dating back to pre-war times, make him a dangerous tool for certain gentry whom the service is watching. I told Colonel Travers this morning that it was just as well he escaped for a time. His own particular scheme has failed, we know him and his characteristics, especially his voice—you could recognize that now in any disguise, could you not?" she broke off abruptly.

I nodded an emphatic assent.

"So we can afford to let him run loose for a little," she resumed, "keeping close upon his trail. I fancy that it will lead us in surprising directions."

She rose and stretched both arms above her head, and I knew that she had told me all she meant to reveal. But I thrilled with the conviction that behind her story was a sinister background which I was not yet to know.

Too Much "Eats" in the Movies

CAN'T blame Hope Hampton for shuddering at the thought of pastry and prunes, for nightmares of cinema stars often grow out of their "screen" meals. She dreamt about porterhouse steaks and German fried potatoes these days.

And the poor movie star, as is well known that the lightest broths and cereals are usually first served to anyone suffering from undernourishment, then, as the patient grows stronger, heavier foods are allowed. But she, as it may be, Hope, as the invalid, had to start in with a banquet that would stir the envy of a two-fisted lumberjack.

The meal, which is pictured above with the lovely star, consisted of a four-pound porterhouse steak, a large order of German fried potatoes, a plate of peas, a large order of sliced beef, four slices of whole wheat bread, a dish of prunes, a Charlotte Russe, two fat French cutlets and a pot of coffee sufficient for the average family. All in all, a most extraordinary meal for an invalid.

"Did I enjoy it?" said Miss Hampton when "The Light in the Dark" was finally completed. "Well, it was good enough the first time. Certainly it was wholesome and nutritious as well as fattening. But after I had been in bed at the studio for four days in succession, each day playing invalid and eating the same meal (I couldn't possibly eat that meal four times in one day, you know), I was pretty sick of it and felt very much the way I imagine a real invalid would feel. When I went home nights I'd have nightmares about porterhouse steaks, German fried potatoes and prunes. Even now I still dream about these things. It just makes me shudder to even think of a prune. And as for pastry—well, I've just simply lost all my craving for it."

"But then, as my director, Clarence Brown, always points out, one must sacrifice many things for art's sake. I'm quite willing to make sacrifices, too, and didn't mind eating that meal once, but four times—ugh-h-h-h—that wasn't sacrifice, it was martyrdom!"

One portion of lobster is fine, for some people, but four portions will call out all the goblins of dreamland when one retires at night.

Of course, no really successful picture star can afford to get fat any more than she can afford to contract dyspepsia. To retain her popularity she must, above all, remain beautiful. And somehow beauty and obesity do not seem to go well together. So the average feminine star is mighty careful about what she eats—at home.

She exercises daily, swims, rides horseback, plays golf and tennis, and not infrequently she goes on diet.

Imagine the chagrin, then, of one very prominent and beautiful young star who was compelled by a most insistent director recently to tackle a meal that would have appealed the appetites of even the most ravenous railroad section gang.

The star was charming Hope Hampton, and the occasion was the filming of a certain scene for her latest First National starring vehicle, "The Light in the Dark." The heroine of the story is a young girl making her way alone in New York. In her search for work she becomes ill from undernourishment. She had been sick in bed for several days when a character living in the same East Side tenement learns of her condition. Lon Chaney, as the character, goes out to a neighboring restaurant and returns with a tray of food for the invalid. It's an enormous meal more suited to the hunker of a hard-working boiler-maker than trifles. I fancy that it will lead us in surprising directions."

She rose and stretched both arms above her head, and I knew that she had told me all she meant to reveal. But I thrilled with the conviction that behind her story was a sinister background which I was not yet to know.

FOLKS AND THINGS

JULIET AT THE ALTAR.

And on the day she was to have married him she ran away and married someone else.

And somebody had to telephone to all the wedding guests, and the cooks had to throw away the chicken and the turkey and the terrapin and the mousie and the Americano, and as for the bride's cake and the groom's cake, nobody even dreams what has become of them.

And the bride's mother is horrified and the bride's brother is furious, and the bride's sister is scandalized and the bridegroom who was to-be is nearly dead from shock.

Poor fellow, I suppose he doesn't realize that he ought to be hanging a garland of roses around his neck.

But he ought. He's had an escape. Narrow to besure, but dear me, what an escape!

A girl who would hit a man to whom she has been engaged for a year, and then hit him at the altar—who would want to marry a girl like that?

No stability, no pride, no conscience—well, that's rather severe after all.

I have known four people in one family to do just exactly this same thing—two men and two women.

The first was the eldest daughter, a picture sweet as a peach and demure as a little meadow primrose. She was engaged to a naval officer and was waiting for his ship to come from the Far East to marry him.

And oh, the lovely letters she wrote him every day, and mailed them all together to Nagasaki and Hongkong and Manila—and how romantic she did feel about them! She had all her silver marked with his initials and all her linen, too, and we were all buying presents and getting new frocks to wear to the wedding and she went to an army wedding to be bridesmaid, while she was waiting to be a bride and the groomsmen were really too fascinating so—

Before the first man's ship was in the bay, little Miss Primrose was married to the groomsmen, and had to have all the silver reinitialed and spent weeks picking out the monograms on the bridal linen.

And the first man threatened to kill himself—but he didn't. He met a sunny girl at a dance in the harbor and he had a wedding, after all. I met the four of them at a dinner not long ago and they all seemed as happy as larks.

The girl's little sister broke her engagement two weeks before the wedding, and ran away with a young lieutenant without a dollar, and nothing to offer her but a pair of blue eyes and a set of shoulders that were the envy of the service—in his rank.

The two brothers?

One of them was engaged to a girl from home—a nice, quiet, domestic little thing—and he ran away and married a theatrical girl.

The other brother was engaged to a rich man's daughter and all the family were delighted—but he got better of it and married a nice little thing without a cent to her name.

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM

I suppose all four of them ought to be miserable—but, somehow, they don't seem to be and I wonder and wonder about them.

Is there no such thing as fidelity and faith and honor—not even in love? What would we think of a man who broke a business promise like that—and yet who wants a man to keep a promise of love, when he has grown to hate it—of a woman, either, for that matter?

Love's young dream seems to be made up of so much of cobwebs, doesn't it? It doesn't seem to make much difference where the web is spun or to what particular flower it is attached.

But just the same I am not commiserating the man whose sweetheart left him at the altar yesterday.

I am congratulating him.

A man who had just opened a store in a strange town was interrogating one of his early customers on the purchasing power of the citizens. "Now, there's Dawson Brown," he said. "He has the reputation of being wealthy. Would he be likely to spend much money in here?" "Well, no," drawled the native, reflectively. "I wouldn't exactly say that he'd go to hell for a nickel, but he'd fish around for one till he fell in."

ON
TO GAIN A BEAUTIFUL
FIGURE

Some years ago a noted foreign visitor to this country was heard to make the remark that the American woman's figure was spoiled because of the ugly lines from her waist down.

"She has charming lines from the waist," Lucrezia Bori up, "but so often her hips are heavy and her legs are too fat. I don't believe American women exercise these parts of their bodies enough."

This is a hard viewpoint for us to accept, but it is easier to discuss now than at that time, for a few years have made a decided difference.

In the last year or so, women in America have become more and more active. Many of them who did work of some kind during the war have kept it up and led as active lives as men who go daily to business. Leading a life of this kind, it is up to them whether or not they get the right amount of exercise. If they take the trouble to walk their two or three miles a day, and to indulge in outdoor sports when occasion permits, they need not worry about their limbs becoming heavy through inactivity.

Then, too, there are the women who do not go to business, but who are occupied with housework and other activities. Housework in itself furnishes a goodly amount of beneficial exercise. Sweeping may not be at all times the most pleasant of occupations, but there is consolation in the thought that it helps to keep you physically fit.

Then, too, the woman of comparatively more leisure used to leave golf, tramping and such diversions to her husband or brother. Now, the situation has changed. Mrs. Smith enjoys a brisk round of golf as much as her husband does. Where once it was an exception to see a girl upon the golf links, a group of women players is now the rule rather than the exception.

Do you tire easily when you walk? "Hiking" is one of the most excellent ways to rid your legs and hips of superfluous flesh. I am going to give you an exercise which will aid you greatly in your fight against superfluous flesh in this part of your body. When you have made it a regular part of your daily exercises it will enable you to walk miles without feeling tired.

Rest and repeat. Stand erect, your head held high, chest out and your hands on your hips.

Now, raise your right leg with knee bent as high as possible. Now, return to your first erect position.

Go through the same motion, using your left leg.

Bakers and Trading

ROMAN ladies of the richer class were able to walk along one particular street and buy almost any trinket or piece of finery their hearts might desire. Fans made from peacock feathers, earrings of gold or silver, and ivory dice were among the articles sold.

Trading was done at little shops which lined either side of the street, making it narrower than ever.

How Bread Was Bought in Roman Days.

The shops were more like booths than stores. The whole front was open, except (sometimes) for linen curtains which did not hide very much of what was for sale.

Some of the shopkeepers were slaves placed there by masters who wanted to gain more riches. Others were so-called "free-men," who were in business for themselves. There were so many persons trying to sell things that few made more than a bare living.

A record shows that at one time there were 254 bakery shops in Rome. A scene at such a shop is After continuing this movement for a time you should find that you can walk farther than you ever did before without becoming tired.

Keep on with the exercise, for it will reduce that bunched appearance around your hips and legs.

Annie and Bessie each have the same income. Annie saves one-fifth of her income each year, but Bessie, by spending $50 more than Annie every year, finds at the end of four years that she owes her sister $100. What is the amount of their income?

POLICE METHODS

Chapter 75.

FROM the time of the formation of the first police organization in the world in France in 1355 down to the modern developments of great cities, the methods of criminological investigation have undergone a tremendous improvement.

It is a long throw from the "trial by fire" to the era of the "lie detector," which can spot a falsehood dropping from a man's lips by recording the beating of his heart.

The first police force, the marcheuses, which later became the gendarmes, relied upon their chance of catching the criminal at the time the crime was committed or immediately thereafter by pursuit. Failing in this, they could do nothing.

The modern police bring criminals to justice twenty years after the deed has been committed by use of the Bertillon system, fingerprints, handwriting identification and photography.

In the early days in England every man was enrolled in the law-enforcing organization. The individual had to join a group of ten men called a decennary. Ten decennaries formed a hundred. If a crime was committed within a certain hundred, the particular decennary involved would be indicated. And it was up to the ten men in this decennary to produce the guilty party.

Later, when this system broke down, the authorities inaugurated a scheme for offering 40 pounds sterling for arrest and conviction of certain types of criminals. This resulted in men assuming false identities and encouraging youths to commit crimes that they might turn them in for the $200.

The modern London police force, organized in 1828, is said to be one of the most efficient in the world. It has the most non-political control, autocratic government, methods of securing personnel, operation of Scotland Yard and its scientific applications. In 1830 no officer dared to go into certain sections of the city, when he was ordered to do so. Ten years later a single officer could make an arrest anywhere.

The Berlin police force is perhaps the most highly centralized organization of its kind in the world. It has the most arbitrary powers, its officers are arrogant and uncivil and all persons are considered criminals unless they prove themselves innocent.

No American would tolerate for one moment a system which forced him to register at the police station every time he made a motor trip from Philadelphia to New York, each time he changed his address or whenever he took a little jaunt to the beach. Yet this is done in Berlin.

A stranger entering Berlin must register immediately with the police, filling out a questionnaire, giving business, reason for his presence in the city, his address, when he is going to leave and much other information. On going away he must register again. Not only this but every lodging house owner and hotel must also furnish identical data to the authorities. This system is in effect in many French cities and in the more thickly settled regions of Continental Europe.

Any unregistered person is subject to arrest and imprisonment without trial before a magistrate. It is said that the Berlin police employ 100 men and women as "stool pigeons," to gain the confidence of suspected persons and ferret out their secrets.

The Berlin police are divided into twelve distinct divisions, such as fire, health, prisons, buildings, utilities, etc. They supervise markets, inspect foodstuffs, have charge of public assemblies, inspect lodging houses and cafes, prepare plans for street improvement and do many other things which no other police department has authority to do.

By the passport system of Continental Europe, no person is allowed to travel about without a passport. Thus the crook cannot circulate so freely as he does in England and the United States. According to the Continental idea, every man must be accounted for. No person can be a resident of a city unless the authorities know why he is there and what his business may be. Thus the criminal is put to it to hide behind a disguise of legitimacy.

In the United States not even criminals are forced to register. Chief Vollmer contends that every jailbird and ex-convict should be forced to register with the police under pain of imprisonment. This would give the police the power to arrest any crook and imprison him if he had not complied with these provisions.

A Day That Made History

It was Charley Hoyt, the greatest of American satirical dramatists, who on receiving a wire from a rather pompous and self-sufficient comedian saying, "I desire to play the leading role in your new comedy," turned the message over and wrote on it the following reply to be sent by telegraph, collect: "You stand practically alone in your desires."

Hoyt's wit operated like that—instantaneously and with emphasis. One night shortly before his death he was leaning against the bar of a chop-house when an actor who was notoriously stingy came in, accompanied by two friends. The close-fisted one and Hoyt were not on the best of terms, but the former was feeling a bit mellow himself and, moved by a sudden and almost unprecedented burst of generosity, he turned to the playwright and said patronizingly:

"Charley, will you join us? I'm buying this drink."

"I certainly will," said Hoyt; "always glad to assist in the celebration of any truly historic event."

Uncle Wiggly Stories

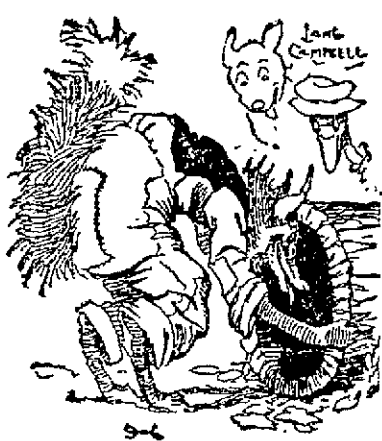

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE BEE.

"HOW do you feel this morning, Uncle Wiggly?" asked Nurse Jane, as the bunny rabbit gentleman arose from the breakfast table and looked toward the corner of the hollow stump bungalow, where his red, white and blue rheumatism crutch leaned against the wall.

"Oh, I feel very happy," answered the bunny. "I feel just like having an adventure. I am going to hop over the fields and through the woods, and I invite you to hop with me, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy."

"You say and careless turing," said Nurse Jane. "But you do feel gay?"

"I certainly do," said Wiggly. "I'm sorry I can't go with you, but I have to wash the dishes."

"What have you for me?" growled the bad creature. "Stinging Stings!"

buzzed the bees, and flying at the Fox they stung him so hard, all over that he was glad enough to run away and not hurt Uncle Wiggly at all.

Thus we learn that though there is honey for some there are stings for others. And if the parlor floor doesn't turn upside down so the rug goes to sleep on the ceiling and the wall paper plays tag around the legs of the table, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's treat.

Baked Cucumbers.
Pare, quarter and remove the seeds from two or three big yellow cucumbers, then cut them up in inch-lengths pieces. Plunge the pieces into boiling water and boil two minutes, then drain. Butter a baking dish, and put in a layer of cucumbers, cover with pepper, salt and sugar, dot with butter, then add a layer of crumbs and a thin layer of sliced onion. Begin again with the cucumbers and continue in this way until the dish is full, putting on a layer of crumbs, seasoning and butter last. Pour in a cupful of good tomato sauce, and if liked sprinkle grated cheese over the top. Bake until done, or about a half-hour in a medium oven. Cucumbers may also be creamed on after parboiling for three minutes.

Fried Vegetable Marrow.
Slice a marrow in half-inch slices and let it stand in salt water for an hour, drain, dry, dip in egg then in seasoned crumbs, and fry in hot fat like eggplant. Or the marrow may be cut in two lengthways. Remove the seeds, oil the pieces inside and out, then stuff with a savory stuffing and bake. Again it may be cut in pieces and parboiled, then creamed.

String Bean Turnovers.
String and cut the beans quite small and parboil them until tender, drain, and have ready enough rich cream sauce to moisten them well. Have prepared a good pie crust rolled and cut in squares. Put a tablespoonful of the beans into each square, fold and pinch the edges to seal, prick the top twice with a fork, and bake the turnovers until the crust is done. Serve a good tomato sauce with the turnovers.

The plan suggested by Spreckels, it was stated, was that Crocker should be president of the new bank or trust company, as he might prefer, and that Spreckels should be president of the other institution.

SHOULDERS WILL BE EXPLOITED BY
FALL CREATIONSGown Designers Turn to Higher Things and Plan
Arm Drapery Effects.

Well, men, the dress designers are turning to higher things. Last year they concerned themselves with the proper display of the feminine ankle. This year, according to revelations which are to be made in connection with the "Welcome to Oakland Week" merchandising display, the designers are all wrought up about the shoulder—not personally but generally speaking.

According to the Oakland merchants the variety of styles to be exhibited during Welcome to Oakland week will rival any style exhibit any place in the country. Practically every store in that line will feature exclusive designs and signs secured in Paris by their buyers for this particular event.

These styles are just arriving now and show entirely different treatment of the sleeve in the feminine gown. The Parisian designers have evidently decided the arm offers opportunities for draped effects. Anyway the new sleeves from Paris are all long and flowing. Some of them have what is called "the shawl effect" while others are so built as to rival the wings of the butterfly. Other sleeves are split allowing intermittent glimpses of the arm.

On the other hand the New York designers, and many of them are turning out particularly snappy creations, according to the Oakland dealers, are out for either half sleeves or no sleeves at all.

AGREE ON SKIRT LENGTH

However both New York and Paris are unanimous upon the length of the skirt. Outside of sport garments the skirts are as long as the height of the wearer will allow. The idea is to get long graceful lines, a consummation which the merchants declare has long been the desire of the woman known to the trade as "the stylish stout."

Another radical undertaking on the part of the designers is that of changing the waist line. According to the new models the feminine waist line has slipped half way down between the knee and the hips.

Matching the new styles in dresses are the new earrings and cigarette holders. Both are longer this year than ever.

With the window display men and the merchandising men now busily engaged, the buyers for the various stores are now exchanging reminiscences concerning their trips which brought the new gowns to Oakland.

"I know what the general impression is but it is a fact that buying gowns and designs in Paris is no joke," declared one of the buyers yesterday. "To use a doughboy expression, the frogs are the nuts when it comes to dealing with them on the subject of new designs. They are all artists and they take it as a personal affront if you suggest a change or an improvement. In America you can joke with the designer but in Paris it's mighty serious business with them. The designer brings in his wife, his mother-in-law, his children, and all of his uncles and aunts and they start a line of propaganda that you can not stop. They all talk at once and you are sure out of luck if you try to slip in a word edgewise. Experienced buyers have found that the thing to do is to see what they have to offer and if you do not like it explain that you will call again. Once an American buyer started an argument with a French designer and it took the police force to rescue him."

The work of decorating the city started yesterday with a crew of electricians at work on the City Hall and another crew busily engaged in stringing lights around the City Hall Plaza.

The Girl Who Put "Long" in Longchamps

"At length!" cries the Dress Reformer, referring, of course, to the length of skirts, cigarette holders and everything else being worn this year, as illustrated by Miss Pauline Finley. These pictures portray the advance styles to be shown during "Welcome to Oakland Week."

SAILOR HELD ON
SHIP AS POLICE
SEARCH FOR GIRLEmma Borba Last Seen Near Lake With Man in Uniform.

The police are trying to solve the disappearance on Sunday of Emma Borba, 16, of 69 Rio Vista street, who was last seen near Lake Merritt with a sailor, while Robert Hannett, a sailor on board the U. S. S. Dakota, is being held in restraint aboard ship after he is alleged to have given conflicting statements regarding the girl.

The report made by the parents was that the girl left home Sunday noon and was later seen walking around the lake with a man in a sailor's uniform. Investigation made by Police Inspectors Joseph Enright and Edward O'Donnell revealed that the girl was acquainted with Hannett.

The police then communicated with the commander of the vessel who questioned Hannett. The commander reported that Hannett was somewhat conflicting in his statements, admitted he knew the girl but declared he had not seen her for several weeks. The commander advised he had denied shore leave to Hannett until the mystery of the girl's disappearance is cleared up.

The missing girl is described as being 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, fair complexion, red hair and wearing eye glasses. When leaving home the girl wore a pink jersey coat, low-cut shoes, lavender hat and a white shirtdress.

Be Staged Last Days of September.

With the last three days of September announced as the dates for the "Merry Whirl of 1922," the Baby Hospital pageant to be staged in the Auditorium arena, tickets are being placed on sale today for each of the three nights of the extravaganza.

The proceeds from the sale of the admission cards will be devoted to carrying on the work of the Baby Hospital.

Boxes, erected around the auditorium arena, will be on sale this week and next, and reservations for any or all of the three nights of the Whirl may be made at the pageant headquarters, Hotel Oakland, or with the box sale chairman, Mrs. William Candler.

Tickets sold prior to September 18 may be exchanged on that date for reserved seats reservations. Handling the task of disposing of the tickets is a committee headed by the Baby Hospital committee of the Kiwanis club, with Vere Hunter and Leslie Olive, dividing chairmanship duties.

From the hospital board are Mrs. Francis McCaffery, Mrs. C. N. Jamison, Mrs. Emory Elliott, Mrs. Frank Hall, Mrs. Walter Davis and Mrs. Fletcher Ames, serving as ticket committee members.

Miss Lila Stewart, who staged the spectacular "Road to Victory" pageant for the Baby Hospital Association a year or two ago, is directing this year's performance, which bids fair to surpass the production of 1920.

Here is a home treatment for removing hairs that is quick, painless and inexpensive. With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to thickly cover the objectionable hairs, apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left soft, clear and hairless. This treatment will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Advertisement.

GAS SAVING HINTS

DO NOT turn the water heater burner on with a low flame. Turn it on full. The low flame does not reach the water coils and the heat is wasted.

Do not let the "HOT" water faucet run when you are not using the water. This allows the heat to run to waste.

The P G and E wants satisfied customers—not inflated gas bills.

"HOT" is hot
with GAS WATER HEATERS

MAYBE "HOT" on one of each pair of faucets in your home does not mean what it says. Perhaps you sometimes regret having installed the plumbing for hot water, because you have not really enjoyed its comfort and convenience. But—

You can have everything that "HOT" on the faucets promises you by attaching a GAS WATER HEATER to your present plumbing. An automatic gas water heater will keep hot water instantly available for you at all times. The intermittent heater will provide enough hot water for a bath in just a few minutes.

Think how nice it is to have the water steaming hot every time you need it. The original cost of GAS WATER HEATERS is very reasonable, and but a little gas is consumed in their operation.

Ask your dealer in gas appliances for prices, etc., on GAS WATER HEATERS. The local P G and E office will also be glad to give you further information.
